WIFE KILLS LOWELL MAN

Earle, Wood's Race Rival, Sentenced

SPEEDER PLEADS GUILTY

Jail Term of Three Months for Lexington Man Imposed by Judge Hammond

Arthur H. Earle, wealthy young man of Lexington, will have three months in the House of Correction in which to deliberate the folly of racing with another automobile upon the public highway.

It was the mad race between a car driven by Earle and another piloted by young William M. Wood, Jr., son of the wealthy woolen manufacturer, which caused the destruction of two cars and the death of Wood and Major Alexander Gardiner of Andover recently, at a treacherous turn in the Reading road known as Dead Man's Curve.

The sentence was imposed upon Earle today by Judge Franklin T. Hammond in the Superior Court in East Cambridge, despite impassioned defense in behalf of the young man, and references to his good character.

Earle's plea of not guilty was changed to guilty and this occasioned commendation from Judge Hammond.

Earle was also praised for his fine character by District Attorney Salonstall, who, notwithstanding, urged the judge not to impose a fine, but

VICTORY FOR MRS. STILLMAN

Wins Every Point in Celebrated Divorce Case, Including Legitimacy of Baby Guy

Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City Bank of New York, was denied a decree in his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Anne U. Stillman, and Baby Guy Stillman was declared legitimate in the findings of Daniel J. Gleason, referee in the case, which were filed here today.

Through his mother's victory, Guy Stillman retains his rights as an heir, with his two brothers and his sister, to the $6,000,000 trust fund created for them by their grandfather, the late James Stillman.

The referee's decision was a complete and sweeping victory for Mrs. Stillman.

Not only was her defense upheld, but the referee also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman had misconducted himself with Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leeds had borne two children.

In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges that her banker husband

ORDERS KEMAL TO GET OUT

Ultimatum Declares the Turks Must Leave Neutral Zone Near Chanak

London, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press). — The British government has sent a practical ultimatum to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, stating his troops must leave the Chanak zone.

Constantinople, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, replying to General Harrington's telegram of Wednesday, has sent a message declaring his troops will not advance further. He says he desires that no incident should occur, and that he will see General Harrington as soon as possible.

British officials assert the Turks are violating the armistice of 1918 and in view of this it would not be necessary to formally declare war before ejecting the Turks from the neutral zone.

Constantinople, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, replying to General Harington's telegram of Wednesday, has sent a message declaring his troops will not advance further. He says he desires that no incident should occur, and that he will see General Harington as soon as possible.

The situation at Chanak, where the British and Turkish troops are almost elbowing each other, was unchanged today.

The meeting between General Harington and Mustapha Kemal is expected to occur tonight, and it is believed here it will result in the withdrawal of the Kemalist cavalry from the Chanak neutral zone.

General Harington will point out the necessity of the discontinuance of the Turkish movements there, which are considered equivalent to the reconnoitering of the British position.

The allied high commissioners

BULLETINS

Athens, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—The Greek army in Thrace and the army corps in the Epirus have definitely joined the revolution.

New York, Sept. 29.—Reports that the British troops in the neutral zone around the Dardanelles had been hemmed in by the Kemalist forces resulted today in a sharp break in sterling exchange. Demand bills were quoted at $4.37, or two cents below last night's closing quotations.

Constantinople (By the Associated Press). — Brigadier-General Sir Charles Harington, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the Dardanelles area, plans to leave this afternoon for a conference with Mustapha Kemal Pasha, probably at Mudania, on the Sea of Marmora.

Paris—Mohammed VI. is reported to have abdicated as Sultan of Turkey in favor of his cousin, Prince Abdul Medjid, heir apparent, who is 54 years old.

London—Members of the Cabinet declared positively today that Britain would not entertain any suggestion for passage of Turkish troops through the neutral zone into Thrace.

By International News Service.

London, Sept. 29.—An unfounded rumor that England has declared war against Turkey caused slumps on the London and Liverpool markets today. British officials said they could not account for the rumor.

GRAND JURY TO REPORT IN MORNING

Attorney-General Allen's Special Grand Jury was expected to report to Judge John F. Brown of Superior Criminal Court at 1:30, but continued in session until 2:30 and then adjourned until morning when a finding will be made. The jury is considering the affairs of the Hanover Trust Company.

SHOOTS IN CITY HALL AFTER A QUARREL

"I Had to Do It," Woman Says as She Awaits Arrival of Police

Lowell, Sept. 29.—Frederick W. Brady walked briskly into City Hall and smiled a greeting at several friends.

A tall, comely woman stepped before him as he attempted to enter the city treasurer's office.

A heated argument ensued.

A pistol gleamed in the woman's hand. Brady leaped forward. There was a shot.

Clutching at his head, he crumpled to the floor. In a few hours he was dead. His wife was then formally charged with murder.

SPECTATORS SPELLBOUND.

Calmly the woman addressed parde stricken spectators, saying, "Will someone please get a police officer?"

Holding the pistol loosely in her

TO IMPEACH GOVERNOR REILY

Washington, Sept. 29.—Felix Cordova Davila, the Porto Rican resident commissioner, announced today that he would leave at once for Porto Rico to obtain documentary evidence to be used in support of impeachment proceedings he will bring in December against Gov. E. Mont Reily of Porto Rico.

FORD TO USE MONEY TO GIVE JOBS

New York, Sept. 29.—Henry Ford, in an interview printed today, declared he intends to use his great wealth for extension of industry to provide jobs for thousands and increase the nation's wealth by larger production. He said he did not believe in the Rockefeller and Carnegie methods of distribution of fortunes.

NEW HAVEN DONE WITH STRIKING UNION

New York, Sept. 29.—The New Haven Railroad will have no further dealing with the striking shopmen of that road, according to a letter from C. L. Bardo, general manager, to R. Henderson, a union official. "System Federation No. 17 of the Federated Shop Crafts, so far as we are concerned, ceased to exist after 10 a. m. July 1," the letter said.

CAMBRIDGE PLANT INCREASES WAGES

American Net & Twine Company, East Cambridge, announced today a general 10 per cent. wage increase for its 170 operatives. The increase will be in tomorrow's pay envelopes. After two years of slack business the company is booking new orders and finds business prospects encouraging enough, a company representative said today, to warrant the raise.

CHARGE FRAUD PLOT IN BUNING OF AUTO

Fitchburg, Sept. 29.—Charles Loufus, Main street fruit dealer, wanted to get rid of his automobile at a figure higher than any one would pay. Therefore, say the police, he hired Mathew Nicolopoulos, Nicola Sirow, alais Prokos, and Karl V. Dappas to take the machine out on Lunenberg road and burn it. Loufus was arrested in his home at No. 1[illegible] Lincoln street, while the other three men were arrested in Lowell. All four were charged with conspiracy to defraud the Yorkshire Insurance Company of $1,300. The three were also charged with larceny of the automobile.

STILLMAN IS DENIED DIVORCE

had also misconducted himself with two other women, identified only as "Helen" and "Clara." Referee Gleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegations.

The referee wrote that the testimony adduced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charges that Mrs. Stillman misconducted herself with Fred Beauvais, part Indian guide alleged by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, "uncontradicted and unexplained, was sufficient to justify him in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against her.

DOESN'T BELIEVE WITNESSES.

"A careful examination, however, of all the testimony," said his report, "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

Two of the banker's attorneys, Colonel William Rand and Outerbridge Horsey, waiting to hear the decision in Mr. Gleason's office at Poughkeepsie, declined to say whether they intended to appeal from the referee's findings.

Cornelius J. Sullivan, counsel for Stillman, also declined today to comment on the report. He said Mr. Stillman was in New York city, but was sure he would have nothing to say at this time.

The referee held that Mr. Stillman had failed to overcome the presumption of legitimacy, which is one of the strongest known to the law and which "cannot be overthrown except by evidence which is strong."

FLORENCE LEEDS IN REPORT.

On the other hand, the report found the proof of Mrs. Stillman's recriminating charges that her husband had supported and maintained Florence H. Leeds.

"It clearly appears without contradiction that since at least as early as 1916, and ever since that date, during the continuance of this action and down to at least March, 1921, the plaintiff has been intimate with a woman not his wife, known as Florence H. Leeds; has supported and maintained her as his wife, in various places and in various apartments. That during the period she has given birth to two children, who have been recognized by him as his children; that he has supplied her with motor cars and jewelry, supervised her bank account and has born the same relations with her as a man ordinarily bears to his own wife.

"The proof on this subject was . . . overwhelming and convincing . . . and upon the uncontradicted proof I find that the plaintiff has been guilty of adultery with one Florence H. Leeds and has lived in adulterous intercourse with her from the year 1916 to at least the early part of 1921."

MRS. STILLMAN'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Stillman, the referee held, not only offered evidence tending to establish the untruth and falsity of the evidence of misconduct by her and Beauvais, but also presented evidence tending to show that agents of Mr. Stillman offered inducements of money and position to witnesses who would testify that his wife had misbehaved with the Indian guide.

In conclusion, it was recommended that the plaintiff's complaint should be dismissed.

The referee's report, upon motion by either side, will go to Supreme Court Justice Morschauser for confirmation or rejection. It is expected that Justice Morschauser will uphold the findings of Mr. Gleason.

The suit of Stillman, then president of the National City Bank, was started on July 18, 1920. In his complaint Stillman charged that Beauvais was the father of baby Guy and that his wife had been guilty of misconduct with the guide at Stillman Lodge at Grand Anse, P. Q., and at Pleasantville, the Stillman country place in Westchester county.

In the subsequent hearings Stillman twice took the stand—the first time giving routine evidence freely, and the second time facing his wife's counsel, John E. Mack and John F. Brennan of Yonkers.

REFUSED TO ANSWER

He refused to answer about 400 questions on the ground, to quote his own words, "that it might tend to incriminate me." His sister, Mrs. Percy Rockefeller, also testified for him, and Mrs. Stillman took the stand in her own defence.

Justice Morschauser, early in the case, awarded Mrs. Stillman $90,000 a year alimony and liberal allowances from time to time for counsel fees and expenses. Later Mrs. Stillman went to Northern Quebec and gathered forty French-Canadians to contradict the "ladder and keyhole" witnesses produced by her husband and who had materially damaged Mrs. Stillman's case.

SALEM STORE LOOTED; $5,000 IN FURS GONE

Salem, Sept. 29.—The Shawmut Fur Store, at the well-lighted corner of Essex and Central streets, 160 yards from Salem police headquarters, was robbed early today of $5,000 worth of furs and fur garments by a ropeladder gang that first entered the Salem Brass Band headquarters, over the store, sawed a hole in the floor, let the ladder down and then culled the finest of the fur stock.

Four years ago the same store was robbed the same way—maybe by the same gang—except that the floor above was broken through the first time and neatly sawed through this trip. The old broken hole had been mended. The burglars picked a new bit of floor space for a neater job this time.

Manager B. Frank Wilkins, who discovered the break, reported that a mink coat, valued at $1,200 and a Hudson seal coat, which were in the dark show window, were among the goods taken.

The gang knew its way. They broke in a Central street side entrance to the block, went upstairs, entered the band room, sawed a hole one and one-half feet square through the floor and evidently let down a lightweight member who then opened a rear door of the store leading to an alley. The rest of the gang, as now figured, then left ladder and tools on the band room floor, came down by the hallway to the street and went around by the alley door into the store.

They probably had an automobile in which to carry away the bulky loot.

The job closely resembles a recent fur store robbery in Haverhill in which the ropeladder trick was used.

LOWELL MAN IS SHOT BY WIFE

hand, she stared intently at the prone figure of the man.

At least twenty men and women stood rooted to the spot for fully a minute.

A woman screamed. The tension broke. Several started for her.

Patrolman John Murphy, his pay envelope in hand, ran from the city treasurer's office and grasped her about the waist.

"Give me the gun," he panted.

"I won't," came the half-whispered answer.

"I am a police officer."

She yielded, then said: "He is my husband. If I hadn't killed him, he would have killed me."

Then, in the same manner as she might ask to be taken home and with no more emotion, she continued: "Take me to the police station."

ATTRACTS A THRONG.

Clerks, stenographers, officials—all came tumbling in one panicky mass from all parts of the building when the shot was fired.

Other curious persons pressed in from the street, each seeking to glance at the dying man and the woman.

An ambulance clanged to the door. Police and internes had difficulty in getting the stretcher through the jam. At least two minutes were lost because the throng would not push back. All the while Brady's life blood spurted forth at his wife's feet.

Mrs. Brady was taken to headquarters by Murphy and Inspector Maher. There she retained her remarkable composure and told police officials in detail of events leading to the tragedy.

Reports from Lowell Corporation Hospital that her husband was dying, that the last rites of the church had been administered, elicited no sign of feeling from her.

WEEPS OVER PLIGHT.

One hour after her arrest she broke down. She wept bitterly but wept over her plight and not in repentance.

The bullet fired from a 38-caliber pistol, struck Brady over the right ear, passed through his head and imbedded in the door of the city treasurer's office.

Mrs. Brady is widely known in Lowell. She was Miss Gertrude Long, an extremely popular girl. She is thirty.

Fred Brady, too, was widely known. For years he had been more or less active in politics. He was a meter inspector of the Lowell Water Department. He was thirty-three.

While police questioned the mother, neighbors, depressed by the tragic happening, cared for the two children, a boy, Fred, seven, and a girl, May, six. They lived at No. 216 Coburn street.

Money Is the Big Thing
Sad Stories of Kings
Old Lady Finance
Generous Bankers

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The big thing is money in this world, where wars cost billions, profiteers cost more billions, and credits of nations are shaky.

Cuba votes to borrow fifty millions. Mexico votes to pay her foreign debts and to borrow money to pay them.

A man who knows what he is talking about says that in the United States business and financial conditions are better than at any time of late. The information comes from Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who made a few hundred million dollars for himself before going to work for the people.

As able a business man as there is in the United States, when he says business is coming back you may be sure that business IS coming back. Find comfort in that, if you need it.

An encouraging part of Mr. Mellon's statement refers to farmers. He says lack of exports, which has hurt their prices, is only temporary. Europe will need all that they can produce, and they will get good prices. Fair prices for farmers is the foundation of fair prosperity for everybody.

The European situation is mixed up, as ever. News that the Greek King is not only off the throne, but in jail, seems welcome to many of his fellow citizens, also the news that he probably won't succeed in planting his own son in his place.

Greek revolutionists want Venizelos. They are with the Allies and want a chance to fight the Turks a little more, under real leadership—which their King didn't give them.

Just what is going to happen over there nobody knows.

The two old ladies of high finance residing in Wall street, New York, and La Salle street, Chicago, felt a little better yesterday. They struggled to their feet, out of a fainting fit, toward the close of the day and the plus sign came back to the stock list.

But high finance, which guesses well on American elections, and other things that it can buy, seems to know little about Europe.

That is not the word of them. Money lent to Europe was contributed by Americans that bought Liberty bonds at par, then sold their bonds in the eighties. They are now in "strong hands" and above par.

If those European debts are cancelled, little people that supplied the money and lost on their bonds will be called upon to make up the loss in taxes. They might say to the bankers, "begin by cancelling debts that are owing to you, and prove your sincerity, before being so generous with our money."

Mustapha Kemal seems to be a thoughtful, slow-moving Turk, the sort that will know enough not to jeopardize what he has gained by inviting war with England unless he has arranged to get all of Russia's power back of him. In that case the bandage would be torn off the whole European mass, and heaven knows what would happen.

Kemal honors the Prophet by confiscating all alcoholic drinks in conquered territories, imposing absolute prohibitions, and notifying Constantinople that he will do the same there.

He believes in the Prophet's teachings. "Only water on this earth. All the wine you can drink through all eternity in paradise."

That theory took Islam far and fast for awhile, then it seemed suddenly to die out.

Michigan's Democratic convention will be asked to endorse Henry Ford for President in 1924. This settles one question. Mr. Ford considers himself a Democrat.

It raises other questions, or will when the time comes. Those that work at the south end of Manhattan Island, New York city, near the stock exchange, and think divine Providence looks upon them as the natural rulers of the United States, will think hard if Henry Ford is nominated, or nominates himself.

There will be scurrying around to find a real radical to run against him. When Ford calls upon his millions of customers to vote for him, on the ground that he produces the goods at the right price, and calls upon his thousands of agents to work in his campaign, he will take some beating. The mush and milk, "perfectly safe—do as I tell you"—candidate won't do, for that kind of a fight.

SENTENCE TERRIFIES WOMAN

Wife of "Tug" Wilson Gangster Collapses as Judge Sends Him Away

Isaac Tatelbaum, "Tug" Wilson gangster, stood at the bar of Middlesex Superior Criminal Court, East Cambridge.

Judge Louis Cox said: "I sentence you to two years in Charlestown Prison."

Mrs. Tatelbaum, sitting a few feet away, half rose, screamed, fell back in her seat and screamed again.

Court officers hastened to her side. She continued to scream. Tears streamed down her cheeks. The court was in an uproar.

Quiet was partly restored. Then Judge Cox sentenced Louis Rubin of Malden to six months in the House of Correction and his wife, Lillian, to pay a fine of $100. Both are of the Wilson gang.

Judge Cox addressed Mrs. Rubin: "Justice must be meted from the heart as well as from the mind. All that saves you from a jail sentence is your five children at home."

Nicholas Rossetti of Malden was fined $200. Frank Mitardo was fined $300. Disposition will be made of the case of Max Spear of Quincy next week.

All were charged with receiving stolen property pilfered by "Tug" Wilson and his gang from the yards of the Boston & Maine Railroad in Somerville. Tatelbaum was also accused of conspiracy to steal and with being an accessory before and after the fact.

SELLS HOOTCH, THEN BLAMES DAUGHTER

Mary Zadonnul of Preble street, South Boston, blamed her daughter, Blanche, fourteen, for the sale of liquor.

"That is a most contemptible thing," thundered Judge Logan in South Boston Court. "I would like to give you a jail sentence."

Instead he fined her $50 and then gave her two weeks in which to pay. Police say that the women sold them a pint.

DOCTOR SEEKS RUGS BY BILL IN EQUITY

Dr. Thomas C. Hill has filed a bill in equity in Superior Court against Mrs. Edith M. Saunders, No. 21 Bay State road, asking that the court order Mrs. Saunders to return to him six rugs which he says she unlawfully took from his office on September 6. Dr. Hill formerly maintained a suite at the above address.

GIVEN A YEAR FOR ATTACK ON CHILD

In sentencing Charles Reddick of No. 65 Phillips street, West End, for a brutal assaul on thirteen-year-old Doris Andre, Judge Lourie told Reddick's attorney that it would be impossible to be lenient in such a case. Reddick was sentenced to one year in jail. Patrolmen Donovan and O'Neil heard the child's screams as they were passing her home on Garden street, West End.

GENERAL ELECTRIC TO PAY CASH BONUS

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, today announced that each employe receiving $4,000 or less per year, who has completed five years' or more continuous service at January 1 or July 1 of each year will be paid 5 per cent supplementary compensation.

MANACLED, GARBED AS BRITISH CONVICT

MISS SALLIE COULTER

Photographed just before she began her attempt to stay twenty-five hours in the locked dungeon of Prison Ship.

GIRL BEGINS 25-HOUR STAY IN DUNGEON

With a crowd wishing her success, Miss Sallie Coulter, Emerson College girl, was locked in the "black hole" of the convict ship at Warren Bridge at 10:30 a. m. today, beginning 25 hours' voluntary confinement in an effort to win $100.

Miss Coulter was selected by Dr. James B. Thornton from several hundred applicants. Miss Coulter was accompanied to the ship by Mrs. R. H. Baker, a matron at the Franklin Square House, where she resides.

After donning a white suit, stamped with the blackboard arrow indicative of the British penal system, Miss Coulter was handcuffed and led to the lowest of the three decks of the boat.

She was chained to a ringbolt in the tiny cubicle, in such a position she cannot sit down or stand straight. Newspapermen and others examined her fastenings. Before the wood and iron door was swung to, her friends wished her good luck.

Captain D. H. Smith then slipped the massive bolt and locked the door with a padlock. A trained nurse was on guard outside.

SHOEMAN DYING AFTER LYNN AUTO CRASH

Fred M. Page, a shoeman of Lynnfield, is on the danger list at the Lynn City Hospital with a fractured skull, the result of an auto crash at the corner of Summer and Commercial streets, Lynn, which endangered the lives of pedestrians, as a heavily laden truck crashed into a coupe and pushed it across a street into the doorway of a store.

Page was driving his auto on Summer street toward the Lynn Common, David Olsen of Cambridge, at the wheel of a heavy truck of the C. Bowen Co. of Boston, was driving toward Market street. The brakes of the truck refused to work and it crashed into the lighter car.

Excitement reigned on Revere Beach for a while today when fire broke out in Rowan's restaurant, Beach and Ocean avenues, back of the various amusement places. The fire was extinguished with little damage.

WOMAN HELD FOR LETTER

Charged With Sending Objectionable Epistle to Mrs. John R. Murphy

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Gilligan of No. 34 Winthrop street, Charlestown, was arrested today charged with sending an objectionable letter through the mails to Mrs. John R. Murphy, wife of the former fire commissioner and mayoralty candidate.

The letter is said to bristle with abusive and insulting terms addressed to Mrs. Murphy. It was barred from the complaint and termed "improper matter."

It started: "Dear Mrs. Murphy—I suppose you heard of my husband's retirement and I feel as though I must write you." It was signed Mary Bowers Walsh.

The letter was mailed March 8. Investigation by Federal agents led to the presentation of evidence before the Grand Jury and a secret indictment was returned.

Assistant United States District Attorney Curtis, asked about the case, said: "If women enter politics they must expect to be and should be treated the same as men. For that reason I am going ahead with this case."

RUNAWAY GIRL AT RIVER'S BRIM

Wilhemini might still be a runaway if she had not stayed out so late. Maybe they do that way in Bath, Me., but Special Officer Philbrick of the metropolitan park police thought it all too late—or too early—for a seventeen-year-old flapper to be on the Charles River esplanade.

This was some time after midnight. Philbrick took the girl, whose last name is Johnson, to the park police station, where they learned that she has been sought for several days as a runaway from her Bath home.

Wilhemini had letters sent to the Boston General Delivery. One of the missives found on her contained an offer to take her to Providence and thence to New York. It was signed "Your Friend."

"Who's that?" she was asked.

"Oh, a woman I met here," she replied.

In city court she was charged with being a runaway girl. The case was continued a week to let Wilhemini's parents come for her. Meanwhile she will be kept at the House of the Good Shepherd.

WOMAN ACQUITTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

A jury in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Mrs. Edna F. Weaver of Reading, accused in a Grand Jury indictment of attempting to commit larceny by false pretenses from the Security Insurance Company of New Haven. It was alleged that Mrs. Weaver presented two insurance adjusters with a list of personal property which she claimed had been burned, which list contained property said to have been removed from the house and concealed, prior to the fire.

Jack Dempsey Says "Hello" to Boston

America's Wonder Fighter Is Ready to Kayo Battling Siki Without Any Delay

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, was photographed at the South Station shaking hands with his old friend, Fred Mongrey.

JACK DEMPSEY SEES FRIENDS IN BOSTON

Jack Dempsey is ready to kayo Battling Siki in the afternoon or evening.

So said the heavyweight champion today, as he passed through Boston on his way from New Brunswick to New York.

The title-holder had been hunting big game. And, very naturally, he had been successful. He was the only member of his party to bring down a moose. Jack spent five nights in the open before he got a shot at a moose. He then brought down a big fellow who weighed 790 pounds. It is being shipped to New York, where Dempsey and his friends will have a party.

"Will I fight Siki?" remarked Dempsey.

"I'll say I will," he continued. "I never saw this bird in action, but I am ready for him nevertheless. I understand he is a rough, strong fellow with a punch. All of which would be mighty pleasing to me.

"I don't think Carpentier was in condition for the bout. He did little real training and undoubtedly underestimated Siki. Georges is apparently through as a ring headliner."

Dempsey will be back in Boston next Friday to rest up for his exhibition at the Faneuil Club's show at Mechanics Building on the following evening. Jack will hop to Toronto from Boston. He is due to start a theatrical tour through the principal Canadian cities.

FILE GIRL'S CHARGES AGAINST ARMENIAN

Comely Helen Goldwerse of School street, Waltham, faced Judge Lourie in Municipal Court today and said she didn't wish to prosecute John Sanjoan, president of the Massachusetts Armenian Republican Association, charged with threatening her. Judge Lourie placed the case on file.

NEW TACTICS IN LOVE FAIL TO WORK OUT

The good old days of "mush" strategy, when it was enough to say to some girls, "Haven't I met you before?" are gone.

Michael Casey of No. 125 Hudson street, South End, knowing this fact, adopted new tactics. After following Margaret Coleman of No. 20 Carpenter street and Annie West of No 13 Washburn street, both of South Boston, for half a mile along Washington street, he stepped up to the pair and, tapping Miss Coleman on the shoulder, said:

"It's all right, girls. I'm an officer."

But the girls missed their cue. Both screamed.

In Central Court today Casey was found guilty of assault on Miss Coleman.

Sentence was withheld to give the probation officer time to look up his past.

ARMENIAN GIRL FEARS DEPORTATION

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in Federal Court today by Attorney Jacob Tertzag in behalf of Oasana Hoghanatian, who fears return to Armenia because of persecution by Turks. The petitioner was ordered deported on the ground that she cannot read and because the Armenian quota is exhausted. She alleges that she was persecuted during the World War and since by Turks and that she planned to come here to live with her brother in Binghamton, N. Y.

SLEEP OF TENANTS BROKEN BY JAZZ

Woman Declares Music Is So Loud Conversation Near-by Is Impossible

Jazz music is going down to crushing defeat in the Astor street section of the Back Bay if a bill in equity filed in Superior Court by Mrs. Celia Green, trustee of the apartment house at No. 21 Astor street, is acted favorably upon.

Mrs. Green seeks to enjoin dancing held under the auspices of the Fine Arts Theatre Company at No. 17 Astor street.

According to the bill, this district was a "most desirable and valuable residential section" before the advent of the defendants on September 9; it now being "unfit for human habitation," due to the dance hall with its large, noisy orchestra, which continually renders "music popularly known as jazz."

Mrs. Green alleges the disturbance prevents her tenants from sleeping or carrying on a conversation. A hearing will be given the bill on Monday.

MILK DEALERS DICKER OVER OCTOBER PRICE

Negotiations continued today between the wholesale milk dealers of Greater Boston and Managing Director Richard Pattee of the New England Milk Producers' Association to fix a price that farmers will receive for milk beginning October 1. The farmers desire an increase of from one-half to one cent a quart for their product, because of increased cost of production due to feeding hay and grain in the barn instead of pasturing their cows. Whether such an increase, if granted, will be passed along to the consumer is problematical.

ARMY BASE STORES SOLD; BOATS REMAIN

Two millions and a half yards of webbing were sold today at the sale of surplus property at Army Base, South Boston, for the sum of $5[illegible],000. Auctioneer Henry J. Healey of Worcester knocked it down to J. Rome of Worcester. Many hundred dollars' worth of medical goods and equipment were also sold. On the ten boats which were offered for sale only five bids were received. The City of Boston, it is understood, will negotiate for two boats lying at the Army Base for a special price.

TO SUE ROBERTS FOR SAFE DAMAGE

A damage suit and one for criminal trespass will be filed against James P. Roberts, prohibition director, by Attorney J. C. Campopino of Lawrence in behalf of Angelo Auffieri, owner of a saloon at No. 140 Common street, Lawrence. The plaintiff charges Roberts ruined a steel safe by chopping the handle and hinges away with an axe. Attorney Campopino made announcement of the proposed suits during a hearing before Commissioner Hayes, who directed his client be held in $500 for the Grand Jury.

ITALIAN FORT DEATH LIST REACHES 200

Rome, Sept. 29.—Revised casualty estimates today in the blowing up of the Italian fortress at Spezia put the dead at nearly 200 and the wounded at about 500. It is now believed that short-circuited electric wires caused the blast instead of a lightning bolt. The material damage will run into millions of dollars.

Money Is the Big Thing
Sad Stories of Kings
Old Lady Finance
Generous Bankers

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The big thing is money in this world, where wars cost billions, profiteers cost more billions, and credits of nations are shaky.

Cuba votes to borrow fifty millions. Mexico votes to pay her foreign debts and to borrow money to pay them.

A man who knows what he is talking about says that in the United States business and financial conditions are better than at any time of late. The information comes from Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, who made a few hundred million dollars for himself before going to work for the people.

As able a business man as there is in the United States, when he says business is coming back you may be sure that business IS coming back. Find comfort in that, if you need it.

An encouraging part of Mr. Mellon's statement refers to farmers. He says lack of exports, which has hurt their prices, is only temporary. Europe will need all that they can produce, and they will get good prices. Fair prices for farmers is the foundation of fair prosperity for everybody.

The European situation is mixed up, as ever. News that the Greek King is not only off the throne, but in jail, seems welcome to many of his fellow citizens, also the news that he probably won't succeed in planting his own son in his place.

Greek revolutionists want Venizelos. They are with the Allies and want a chance to fight the Turks a little more, under real leadership — which their King didn't give them.

Just what is going to happen or there nobody knows.

The two old ladies of high finance residing in Wall street, New York, and La Salle street, Chicago, felt a little better yesterday. They struggled to their feet, out of a fainting fit, toward the close of the day and the plus sign came back to the stock list.

But high finance, which guesses well on American elections, and other things that it can buy, seems to know little about Europe.

That is I id of them. Money lent to Europe was contributed by Americans that bought Liberty bonds at par, then sold their bonds in the eighties. They are now in "strong hands" and above par.

If those European debts are cancelled, little people that supplied the money and lost on their bonds will be called upon to make up the loss in taxes. They might say to the bankers, "begin by cancelling debts that are owing to you, and prove your sincerity, before being so generous with our money."

Mustapha Kemal seems to be a thoughtful, slow-moving Turk, the sort that will know enough not to jeopardize what he has gained by inviting war with England unless he has arranged to get all of Russia's power back of him. In that case the bandage would be torn off the whole European mess, and heaven knows what would happen.

Kemal honors the Prophet by confiscating all alcoholic drinks in conquered territories, imposing absolute prohibition, and notifying Constantinople that he will do the same there.

He believes in the Prophet's teachings. "Only water on this earth. All the wine you can drink through all eternity in paradise."

That theory took Islam far and fast for awhile, then it seemed suddenly to die out.

Michigan's Democratic convention will be asked to endorse Henry Ford for President in 1924. This settles one question. Mr. Ford considers himself a Democrat.

It raises other questions, or will when the time comes. Those that work at the south end of Manhattan Island, New York city, near the stock exchange, and think of Henry Ford's views upon them as the natural rulers of the United States, will think hard if Henry Ford is nominated, or nominates himself.

There will be scurrying around to find a real radical to run against him. When Ford calls upon his millions of customers to vote for him, on the ground that he produces the goods at the right price, and calls upon his thousands of agents to work in his campaign, he will take some beating. The mush and milk, "perfectly safe—do as I tell you"—candidate won't do, for that kind of a fight.

'Tug' Wilson Gangster Gets 2 Years

SENTENCE TERRIFIES WOMAN

Isaac Tatelbaum, "Tug" Wilson gangster, stood at the bar of Middlesex Superior Criminal Court, East Cambridge.

Judge Louis Cox said: "I sentence you to two years in Charlestown Prison."

Mrs. Tatelbaum, sitting a few feet away, half rose, screamed, fell back in her seat and screamed again.

Court officers hastened to her side. She continued to scream. Tears streamed down her cheeks. The court was in an uproar.

Quiet was partly restored. Then Judge Cox sentenced Louis Rubin of Malden to six months in the House of Correction and his wife, Lillian, to pay a fine of $100. Both are of the Wilson gang.

Judge Cox addressed Mrs. Rubin: "Justice must be meted from the heart as well as from the mind. All that saves you from a jail sentence is your five children at home."

Nicholas Rossetti of Malden was fined $200. Frank Mitardo was fined $300. Disposition will be made of the case of Max Spear of Quincy next week.

All were charged with receiving stolen property pilfered by "Tug" Wilson and his gang from the yards of the Boston & Maine Railroad in Somerville. Tatelbaum was also accused of conspiracy to steal and with being an accessory before and after the fact.

SELLS HOOTCH, THEN BLAMES DAUGHTER

Mary Zadosnul of Preble street, South Boston, blamed her daughter, Blanche, fourteen, for the sale of liquor.

"That is a most contemptible thing," thundered Judge Logan in South Boston Court. "I would like to give you a jail sentence."

Instead he fined her $50 and then gave her two weeks in which to pay. Police say that the women sold them a pint.

DOCTOR SEEKS RUGS BY BILL IN EQUITY

Dr. Thomas C. Hill has filed a bill in equity in Superior Court against Mrs. Edith M. Saunders, No. 21 Bay State road, asking that the court order Mrs. Saunders to return to him six rugs which he says she unlawfully took from his office on September 6. Dr. Hill formerly maintained a suite at the above address.

GIVEN A YEAR FOR ATTACK ON CHILD

In sentencing Charles Reddick of No. 65 Phillips street, West End, for a brutal assaul on thirteen-year-old Doris Andre, Judge Lourie told Reddick's attorney that it would be impossible to be lenient in such a case. Reddick was sentenced to one year in jail. Patrolmen Donovan and O'Neil heard the child's screams as they were passing her home on Garden street, West End.

GENERAL ELECTRIC TO PAY CASH BONUS

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, today announced that each employe receiving $4,000 or less per year, who has completed five years' or more continuous service at January 1 or July 1 of each year will be paid 5 per cent. supplementary compensation.

MANACLED, GARBED AS BRITISH CONVICT

MISS SALLIE COULTER
Photographed just before she began her attempt to stay twenty-five hours in the locked dungeon of Prison Ship.

GIRL BEGINS 25-HOUR STAY IN DUNGEON

With a crowd wishing her success, Miss Sallie Coulter, Emerson College girl, was locked in the "black hole" of the convict ship at Warren Bridge at 10:30 a. m. today, beginning 25 hours' voluntary confinement in an effort to win $100.

Miss Coulter was selected by Dr. James B. Thornton from several hundred applicants. Miss Coulter was accompanied to the ship by Mrs. H. H. Baker, a matron at the Franklin Square House, where she resides.

After donning a white suit, stamped with the blackboard arrow indicative of the British penal system, Miss Coulter was handcuffed and led to the lowest of the three decks of the boat.

She was chained to a ringbolt in the tiny cubicle, in such a position she cannot sit down or stand straight. Newspapermen and others examined her fastenings. Before the wood and iron door was swung to, her friends wished her good luck.

Captain D. H. Smith then slipped the massive bolt and locked the door with a padlock. A trained nurse was on guard outside.

SHOEMAN DYING AFTER LYNN AUTO CRASH

Fred M. Page, a shoeman of Lynnfield, is on the danger list at the Lynn City Hospital with a fractured skull, the result of an auto crash at the corner of Summer and Commercial streets, Lynn, which endangered the lives of pedestrians, as a heavily laden truck crashed into a coupe and pushed it across a street into the doorway of a store.

Page was driving his auto on Summer street toward the Lynn Common. David Olsen of Cambridge, at the wheel of a heavy truck of the C. Bowen Co. of Boston, was driving toward Market street. The brakes of the truck refused to work and it crashed into the lighter car.

Excitement reigned on Revere Beach for a while today when fire broke out in Bowan's restaurant, Beach and Ocean avenues, back of the various amusement places. The fire was extinguished with little damage.

WOMAN HELD FOR LETTER

Charged With Sending Objectionable Epistle to Mrs. John R. Murphy

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Gilligan of No. 34 Winthrop street, Charlestown, was arrested today charged with sending an objectionaable letter through the mails to Mrs. John R. Murphy, wife of the former fire commissioner and mayoralty candidate.

The letter is said to bristle with abusive and insulting terms addressed to Mrs. Murphy. It was barred from the complaint and termed "improper matter."

It started: "Dear Mrs. Murphy—I suppose you heard of my husband's retirement and I feel as though I must write you." It was signed Mary Bowers Walsh.

The letter was mailed March 8. Investigation by Federal agents led to the presentation of evidence before the Grand Jury and a secret indictment was returned.

Assistant United States District Attorney Curtis, asked about the case, said: "If women enter politics they must expect to be and should be treated the same as men. For that reason I am going ahead with this case."

WOMAN ACQUITTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

A jury in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court today returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Mrs. Edna F. Weaver of Reading, accused in a Grand Jury indictment of attempting to commit larceny by false pretences from the Security Insurance Company of New Haven. It was alleged that Mrs. Weaver pretended two insurance adjusters with a list of personal property which she claimed had been burned, which list contained property said to have been removed from the house and concealed, prior to the fire.

RAISULI HAS QUIT CAREER OF CRIME

San Sebastian, Spain, Sept. 29.—Senor Prida, Spanish foreign minister, officially announces the surrender of Raisuli, the bandit.

Raisuli, otherwise Mulai Ahmed Raisuli, has utilized more than forty years of his life in brigandage and was considered the greatest robber in all Morocco. He operated within a hundred miles of Tangier in recent years but the Spanish troops early in July last drove him out of his citadel at Dazroot sixty miles south of Tangiers, and with a few thousand rebel followers he had been in flight ever since.

HITS COLLEGES THAT VIOLATE AMERICANISM

Philadelphia, Sept. 29.—Making a plea for the utmost democracy in higher education, Dr. Joshia H. Penniman, acting provost of the University of Pennsylvania, in an address at the opening of the institution, declared that no American institution, unless private and restricted, had the right to adopt a method of selecting candidates that in any way violated the principles laid down in the Declaration of Independence.

"To do this," Dr. Penniman said, "is to be un-American in policy. There is imperative need to preserve the American character of our institutions, and to send forth the graduates better and more loyal Americans, if possible, than when they entered.

"Universities exist for their students, not students for universities. It is not so much a matter of whom we admit, provided, of course, the requirements are met, as of whom we retain. The university is a place of opportunity, but it is no place for the intellectual loafer."

HEIRESS TO 2 FORTUNES IS "DEAD"

Mary Brennan, witness in the famous "Pond Lily House murder" of 1907 and sought as the heir to two fortunes, has been officially adjudged dead by the United States Treasury Department, according to announcement made at Providence, R. I.

Miss Brennan, who was a former Worcester girl, has been sought by the Treasury Department, which desired to award a $10,000 war risk insurance fee her through the death of a brother during the war.

Private agencies had also attempted to locate her as the heir of a large estate in England through the death of a relative. Treasury Inspector William P. Nolan, who had investigated the case, will now ask the United States courts to declare the woman legally dead.

Miss Brennan became prominent as an eye witness to the dramatic shooting of Charles Burnap, a Worcester traveling salesman. The authorities charged that her stories of the shooting conflicted. Charles Phipps of Shrewsbury was indicted for the crime but was finally acquitted. Soon after this Miss Brennan left Worcester and has never been heard from since.

BOSTON MAY SELL COAL TO NEEDY

Mayor James M. Curley has drafted an order to be introduced in the City Council asking authority to borrow $250,000 for the purpose of placing the city in the coal business.

The Mayor states that a canvas of the city has revealed large numbers of poor persons and others of moderate means who will suffer hardship unless coal is obtained.

Mr. Curley declared that he has already made plans for obtaining coal in large shipments which he will distribute from stations all over the city. He will announce later his entire plan.

POSTAL STRIKE IN IRELAND SETTLED

London, Sept. 29.—The Irish postal strike which has practically tied up the postal, telegraph an telephone business of Ireland for several weeks, has been settled.

The strikers will return to work at once. Many of them have been working for some time in anticipation of the settlement.

PASTOR ON BIKE DYING AFTER COLLISION

North Attleboro, Sept. 29.—The Rev. George E. Osgood, dean of the local clergy, and for the past forty-two years rector of Grace Episcopal Church, is believed dying from injuries he received when he was struck by an automobile while riding a bicycle on South Washington street.

Mrs. Mildred K. Sanclemente, driver of the car, has been exonerated by the police, who say the aged clergyman drove his bicycle squarely into her path.

ROB EAST BOSTON MAN AT GUN POINT

While one man held a revolver up against his stomach, two others relieved Vincent Pasce of No. 38 Grove street, East Boston, of his watch and money. The holdup occurred at Porter and Orleans streets according to the report made to the police of Station 7 by the victim. Pasce furnished a good description of the hold-up men.

Conquers Eczema or Money Back

By Using Hokara

Wonderful new treatment discovered by a prominent physician has now been placed on the market and is guaranteed to help all skin diseases and blemishes or money back. This new treatment is called Hokara and is not only genuine and powerful but harmless as it contains no lead, mercury or anything that will injure the most delicate skin.

"It is not a quack," says Dr. Johnson, "I used many kinds of remedies with fresh, but never until I found Hokara did I see such beneficial and satisfactory results. It is in my opinion, soon as well as wonderful."

Hokara clears the skin and makes it beautiful and fresh looking; as the name Hokara (pronounced Ho-Kay-Ra) means in the Japanese Butterfly and its great power to kill those in which it is used, recommended it are delighted with its use.

Druggists everywhere sell a good, big jar of Hokara for 50 cents and guarantee it. If they are sure to get it at North Station Drug Store —Parker Drug Store—Central Drug Store —F. D. McCann Co., Hewett, N. H.

The Hair-Destroying Curling Iron Passes

Superseded by Simerine Method

The heated iron makes the hair dry and parched looking, burns off the ends, giving a most untidy appearance. You who have learned this from experience will be glad to hear of a very simple method which is free to none of the objections referred to and which gives better results than the curling iron for either short or long hair.

Just get a few ounces of plain Liquid Simerine at your druggist's and apply a little with a clean tooth brush before doing up the hair, drawing the brush down one strand at a time from root to tip. In three hours your hair will be as beautifully wavy and curly as though Mother Nature did it, and it will be quite manageable, no matter what style of coiffure you adopt. The effect will be much prettier than if you used a waving iron will last much longer, and the health of your hair will not suffer. Simerine put up by Parker Simerine Co., Chicago, is not sticky or greasy, but is quite pleasant to use.

MOVIE WORLD NEWS AND COMMENT

By FREDERICK JOHNS

"FORGET - ME - NOT," the Metro picture, which comes to the Orpheum Theatre October 19, reproduces with great fidelity the life story of two foundlings. It was given a private showing at the State Theatre before a large audience of educators and clergymen.

In the orphanage where her mother had left her as a baby, Ann Gordon had found one congenial soul, another foundling named Jimmy. But one day there comes a rich woman who chooses Jimmie for adoption and Ann is left alone.

The other children eventually find homes, but no one wants the little girl with a crippled leg. A street musician takes pity on her and she goes to share his meagre one-room home.

Thus the paths of the two childhood sweethearts diverge, but through the long years Ann carries the memory of Jimmy and from it draws inspiration and courage in her struggle to become a successful violinist.

CHARLES RAY'S SUCCESS

CHARLES RAY, the beloved comedy drama star of the screen, is a product of Jacksonville, Ill., and of an old fashioned family. As a lad he was a dreamer with aspirations for circus and stage life. Removing to Los Angeles as a young man, he got a job "suping" at the Burbank Theatre. There he met Sam De Grasse, then an actor, and curiously enough, now the director of Ray's latest picture, 'A Tailor Made Man," from whom he received encouragement.

After a few years of "hits" of stock and road vaudeville, Ray had a chance in motion pictures—as an "extra." Thomas H. Ince liked his work and placed him in the studio company, and before long Ray's characterizations, so human and whimsical, made his roles stand out and win distinct popularity for him. From this he moved gradually to stardom.

For some seasons Ray has been his own producer, and now has inaugurated a policy of big pictures only of which "A Tailor Made Man" is the first, distributed by United Artists' Corporation. Ray is married and lives at Beverly Hills, California.

TOURNEUR CHALLENGES.

MAURICE TOURNEUR, the Motion Picture Director, who won fame by his picturizations of "The Bluebird" and "Treasure Island," has added a new feather to his cap, this time by completing an historical film with absolute fidelity to the theme of the novel from which it was taken.

"Lorna Doone," according to critics who have been given a chance to see the picture at the Thomas H. Ince Studios, is destined to satisfy those film fans who have complained that famous classics recently appearing on the screen have deviated from the original version of the author so far as to be barely recognizable.

KIDS SEE THURSTON AS AMERICAN GUESTS

Today they are believers—four hundred and fifty orphans are.

They believe that rabbits can be pulled out of your buckets and birds out of your ears.

For they saw Thurston, the Magician, do these things and more, as guests of the Boston American the round-eyed orphan boys and girls were at Thursday matinee at the Plymouth Theatre, where Thurston amuses and amazes with tricks of legerdemain.

It was a wonderful treat for the asylum youngsters. They went to and from the theatre in automobiles, Thurston met them at the theatre entrance, doing tricks with a live rabbit.

When the kids were comfortably placed in floor and balcony seats, bags of candy were distributed by Harris Heller, the theatre candy man, and lollipops by Frank Arcier of The Moxie Co.

HEARST ASSOCIATED IN BARHAM PAPER

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—Announcement of the association in the Evening Herald of two of his late brother's closest and oldest friends is made in an editorial signed by Frank F. Barham, president and publisher. These two friends are William Randolph Hearst and Frank P. Flint. Mr. Flint was formerly United States Senator.

Mr. Barham, who shared with his brother Frank in the publication of the Evening Herald, died in London recently as the result of an operation, having been stricken while touring Europe with Mr. Hearst. Mr. Barham announces there will be no change in policies of the Evening Herald and that he will continue as president and publisher.

ARREST SEVEN IN BROOKLYN EXPLOSION

New York, Sept. 20. (By International News Service).—Seven men were arrested today in connection with a mysterious explosion in which ten persons were injured during an Italian street celebration in Brooklyn. The explosion was said to have been caused by a high powered aerial bomb falling in a crowd of 30,000 persons. Panic follow-

Wins Divorce

MRS. INA J. JOYCE

Her suit for divorce against a Providence department store man was uncontested. She testified to finding her husband in a hotel with another woman.

MRS. JOYCE IS AWARDED DIVORCE

Providence, R. I., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Ina J. Joyce, wife of George L. Joyce, manager of a local department store, and son of one of the proprietors of the Joyce Brothers string of stores, was granted a divorce from her husband in Superior Court here after a hearing before Judge Antonio Capotosto.

Mrs. Joyce was allowed the use of her maiden name, Miss Ina J. Richards, and was granted alimony of $36 a week.

The suit was uncontested. Mrs. Joyce testified that she entered a Block Island hotel, accompanied by private detectives and, after battering down a door, found her husband in the company of Miss Stella Reuter.

Miss Reuter was severely beaten by Mrs. Joyce and the party was ejected from the hotel.

INVITED TO CALL ON POLICE, IS ARRESTED

Chief Kendall of the Somerville Police Department today arrested Arthur R. Grover of Boston on a warrant charging him with larceny of $385 in an alleged crooked automobile deal.

The Somerville police have been looking for Grover for some time and finally located him today when he called Chief Kendall on the telephone to ask for a waiver of the four-day auto sale law. The chief asked him to call at headquarters and when he did so, served the warrant on him.

He said he was stopping at the Brunswick, Boston. Grover will be turned over to the Brookline police.

$8,000 CAR BURNED AFTER WRONG ALARM

A touring car, valued at $8,000, was destroyed when fire broke out in the garage of Dr. Freeman Hibben, East street, Dedham, today. Through error the fire department responded to box 57. While the apparatus was there some one sounded box 43, calling out the remainder of the department. A maid in Dr. Hibben's house called the Norwood fire department and two pieces of apparatus come from there.

DEMANDS PROBE OF SOLDIERS' RELIEF

Alderman Robert E. Harris of Somerville today offered an order to the board that a committee of five members be appointed to probe the Department of Soldiers' Relief. He has received complaints from ex-service men that their relief has been cut off without explanation and that money is paid to former service men who are not in need. Benjamin C. Abbott, head of the department, refused to comment on the charges.

GETS DIVORCE, THEN SUES WIFE'S SUITOR

Providence, Sept. 20.—John A. Mahoney of No. 296 Blackstone street went to an Oakland Beach cottage on July 30 at 3 o'clock in the morning with four policemen and there found his wife and Frank Murphy of Riverdale street. So today Judge Capotosto granted him a divorce and the custody of his four children. Shortly thereafter Murphy was arrested in connection with Mahoney's suit for 5,000 damages for alienation of his wife's affections.

BRITAIN BELIEVES THAT RUSSIANS PLAN TO BACK TURKEY IN WAR

SITUATION GRAVE, SAY PAPERS

have decided to despatch a commission composed of British, French and Italian officers to Rodosto, Thrace, in order to exercise a pacifying influence there.

The possibilities presented by the Greek revolution continued to dominate the situation today, particularly as regards the action the Greek army may take in Thrace. The British Cabinet is sitting almost continuously.

The London newspapers are appearing with headlines and leading news notes in which the word "grave" is frequently used.

The Cabinet is said to be occupied with details involving preparations for a long military campaign, irrespective of matters of general policy.

In some diplomatic circles a big war already is regarded as inevitable, particularly if the old British policy is shoved to—a policy based on the idea that a strong Turkey would continue to be a menace to Europe.

It is considered in some political quarters here that Russia will use whatever influence it may have with the Kemalists to precipitate a general war, as the Moscow regime, it is urged, thrives on trouble, and its armies concentrating divisions in the Caucasus ready for Kemal if he should accept them.

Constantine Flees; May Come to U. S.

Athens Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—Constantine, abdicated King of Greece; former Queen Sophie, Prince Nicholas and Prince Andrew are secretly taken on board a warship and have departed for some unknown destination, it was while reported today. They were is going to New York, where $5,000,000 in Greek gold was shipped, arriving yesterday.

The Greek revolutionary committee in Athens is trying to strengthen the Greek army in Thrace.

It is regarded as certain that, if the Turks were allowed to cross over into Europe at this time a clash between Greek and Turkish troops would follow.

The temporary revolutionary triumvirate, composed of Colonel Gonatos, Colonel Plastiras and Captain Phocas, are meeting almost continuously, discussing plans for the military defence of Thrace against the Turks and the recall of former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos.

Meantime Prince George has taken the oath as King as George II. George I., his grandfather, born in Copenhagen, was assassinated in Salonikl in 1913.

It is reported that Venizelos might arrive in Athens from France on Saturday night or Sunday.

Constantine and Five Ministers Imprisoned

Paris, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—Ex-King Constantine has been held prisoner in Athens pending arrangements for sending him out of the country, according to messages received in official quarters in Paris today.

Five ministers of the Protopapadakis government have been imprisoned, the messages also state, charged with responsibility for the defeat of the Greek army in Asia Minor and the succeeding events in Greece. These ministers, it is declared, will be tried by a military commission. They are MM. Gounaris, Stratos, Theotokis, Goudas and Protopapadakis.

Rush Loading of U. S. Destroyers

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 29.—The twelve destroyers ordered with the supply ship Bridge to proceed to Constantinople probably will complete loading by tonight, it was said today by officers at the Hampton Roads naval base, where the vessels are being prepared for the trip.

All the facilities at the base were called into play to outfit the boats. Great quantities of medicine are being put aboard and all other available space is being packed with food.

Greeks Welcome Plan to Send U. S. Warships

Washington, Sept. 29.—A beneficient practical moral effect on the state of mind of the Kemalist Turks will be the immediate result of the arrival at Constantinople of the twelve American destroyers ordered there by Secretary of the Navy Denby, officials of the Greek Legation declared today. The prospect of even passive American participation in the matter was hailed as a good omen.

"It will give the Turks a suspicion they won't be allowed to continue their massacres with impunity and that America in protecting Christian interests has decided to protect her own interests as well," M. Chetzian Diamontapolous, secretary of the legation, said.

"The sight of a few guns exerts a practical moral effect on the people against whom those guns might conceivably be used."

American business principles as well as religious and educational interests, are at stake in the Near East, M. Diamontopolous declared.

"There are your tobacco companies in Asia Minor; your oil companies in the Black Sea littoral, to whom the internationalization of the Dardanelles is a vital necessity, and your future markets in the Black Sea countries, which depend equally on the assured freedom of the straits," he said.

Britain Alarmed by Arming of Russians

London, Sept. 29.—The anxiety of the British cabinet over the Near East situation was heightened today by news that the Russian Soviet government was reorganizing its southern army with the possibility of joining the Turks.

British Troops March Through Constantinople

Constantinople, Sept. 29.—Reinforcements of British troops were landed from warships here today and marched through the streets singing: "Oh, It's a Lovely War." They will strengthen the British force defending the neutral zone southwest of this city.

Turks Flee Thrace; Accuse Greeks of Atrocities

Sofia, Bulgaria, Sept. 29.—Turkish refugees numbering 240 from the village of Semra, in Thrace, arrived at the Bulgarian frontier yesterday, declaring they had been forced to flee to escape Greek terrorism. The Greeks, they asserted, surrounded the village, burned their homes and killed a part of the population.

The Bulgarian authorities urged them to return home, but the Turks said they feared the Greeks had decided to exterminate the Turks from Thrace.

Bulgarians and Turks near Dedeaghatch, on the Aegean Sea, have been arrested by the Greeks.

"Sylpho-Nathol does more than clean"

"Mother came over last week to make some of her famous doughnuts. No matter how hard I try, mine are never nearly so good. She saw me put Sylpho-Nathol in the scrub-water for the kitchen floor.

"Well, there's one thing at least about your housekeeping, Betty, I'll have to admit you do better than your mother did,' Mother smiled, 'and that is the way you clean with Sylpho-Nathol. No wonder your home has such a fresh, healthy atmosphere.'"

Housekeepers today are no more thorough than they were in Mother's day, but they've learned that to keep a home healthfully clean requires something more than soap and water and energy. They realize now, that dust and dirt are full of dangerous disease germs which get into cracks and crannies and must be destroyed. They know that unpleasant smells which develop so rapidly in sink drains and around plumbing and garbage receptacles and other hard-to-get-at places are unsanitary signals. They know that both germs and odors should be promptly eliminated.

Sylpho-Nathol does both these things quickly and effectively. It has none of the objections which housewives feel toward the use of ordinary disinfectants and deodorants. Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid, but it's as safe to have in the house as a cake of scouring soap. It cannot injure your skin nor hurt household things.

Sylpho-Nathol quickly dispels unpleasant odors, but it's own friendly, pleasant smell doesn't linger.

Sylpho-Nathol is easy to prepare—just a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water makes a clean-smelling, pearly-gray solution that's ready for immediate use.

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 15c, 35c, 65c and $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it easily. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Eczema Helped Over Night by Mentho-Sulphur

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment, declares a noted skin specialist. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar of flowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

BELIEVE KEMAL WANTS BRITAIN TO OPEN FIRE

London, Sept. 29.—The issue of war or peace still hung by a thread today. Violation of the neutral zone by the Turkish Nationalists continues. Turkish soldiers are approaching to within a few feet of the British outposts and reconnoitring the whole of the defensive positions.

The opinion is expressed that Kemal is trying to provoke the British to fire on the Turks, so that he can turn to the Mohammedan world and claim he has been attacked by the Christians. Should such a thing occur it would naturally raise a grave issue for Great Britain in India, Egypt and Mesopotamia.

That the situation is as bad as it can be short of actual war is the consensus among editorial writers of the morning newspapers.

"All outward signs indicate that, as is known to the government, it is graver than the general public yet realizes," says the Times.

Deep anxiety is manifest everywhere, and in some quarters there is an insistent demand that Parliament be summoned without delay.

The main danger is still regarded as centring in the Chanak zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles, into which Turkish Nationalist troops continue to move freely in defiance of the British decree.

Will Summon Allied Ministers to Paris

Paris, Sept. 29 (By the Associated Press).—The necessity of a hastily summoned meeting of the allied ministers in Paris to consider the serious developments in the Near East was foreseen in official circles today, following reports from Chanak that the British and the Turks were nearer a clash than at any previous time.

The determination of the new Greek government to defend western Thrace is also a critical factor in the situation, and steps for its execution would require allid consultation on what measures the powers would be called upon to take.

U. S. Consulate Stormed by Passport Seekers

Constantinople, Sept. 29 (By Associated Press).—Crowds continue to storm all the consulates and passport offices in the capital, and some have been forced to close their doors or appeal to the police for protection. There is an unending stream of Greeks and Armenians outside the American consulate, the line forming each day before dawn. In the last twenty-four hours the Greek consulate has issued 8,000 passports.

Every outgoing train and boat is filled to capacity. Small fishing and merchandise boats are taking the overflow and their owners reaping large profits.

The prospect of war has brought to Constantinople newspaper correspondents of every nationality, most of them from the United States.

French Envoy Warns Turks of War Peril

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—Thus far, although penetrating the neutral area, the Turks have carried white flags and slung their rifles upside down when near the British lines, their commanders assuring the British officers they have no intention of aggression.

The British forces in Chanak now look out on three sides upon the forces of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. By their recent incursions the Turks have completed their occupation of the neutral zone in defiance of Great Britain's ultimatums.

General Pelle, French High Commissioner, has dispatched an energetic note to Smyrna telling Mustapha Kemal that the British sincerely desire to avoid a conflict, but France will not be able to restrain them if they are attacked.

Italy Moves to Prevent Greeks Holding Thrace

Rome, Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—Italy today formally requested the allied powers to prevent the Greek revolutionaries from attempting to hold Thrace against the Turkish occupation. Italy fears that if the Greek army in Thrace tries to keep out the Turks the Balkans will be menaced with a new war.

TIGRESS PLAYMATE OF GAUDY PEACOCK

London, Sept. 29.—The queerest zoological happening in three thousand years has been revealed at the Manchester Zoo.

It is a friendship between a tigress and a gaudy peacock. They occupy the same cage, share their food and play together constantly. The keepers declare that the unique love affair is not paralleled in history.

ELECT SAILOR G. A. R. COMMANDER

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 29.—Installation of officers, elected yesterday, and the adoption of resolutions was all that remained for veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic to do today before adjourning their fifty-sixth annual encampment. The selection of Judge J. W. Willett of Tama, Ia., as commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, broke a precedent of fifty-six years' standing. He is the first veteran who served as a sailor during the Civil War to be chosen for this exalted position.

LANDLORD SAYS IT WITH GUN; RAISES RENT

The average landlord uses blanks to collect rent with. Not Charles Quarance, who owns the house at No. 3 Holden court, North End. His collector, a shiny revolver, is not loaded with blanks.

Albano Valenzolla paid his rent without demur. It was only when Quarance called to inform him that his rent would be increased that Albano protested.

"I cannot pay the increase," he informed the landlord.

"Perhaps you can be persuaded to change your mind," suggested Quarance.

"No," said Valenzolla.

Quarance then seized his hand.

"Come down the street a bit," he is alleged to have said. "I think I can make you see reason."

The pair fared forth into the street. As they turned into Commercial street, Quarance said:

"Now, for the last time, will you pay the increase?"

"No," said Valenzolla.

Then, the police say, the landlord drew a revolver and fired three shots at his tenant. Two of them went wild. The third penetrated Valenzolla's cheek and lodged in his neck.

Witnesses called the police, who removed Valenzolla to Haymarket Relief Hospital. There it was said he would recover.

In the meantime Quarance disappeared, and there is a search for him. If he stays away he will find it difficult to collect his rents. If he returns he will be charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, with intent to kill.

INJURY FATAL TO FIRE CAPTAIN SWAN

Captain William C. Swan of the Boston Fire Department, for years head of ladder company No. 15, died at the City Hospital as a result of injuries received when he was crushed beneath the wheels of a truck while responding to an alarm.

As the heavy machine shot around a corner at a fire on Holyoke street Captain Swan leaped off and fell beneath the wheels.

Capt. W. C. Swan

His wife, who was in Mendon at the time, was brought to the hospital in record time by a fire department touring car, sent out by the orders of Fire Chief Tabor.

FARMERS' ROW OVER WINE GETS IN COURT

Leominster, Sept. 29.—Charles E. Durand bought a farm from Russell E. Derby. On the farm were a ladder and 162 bottles of wine. Derby wanted both. Durand refused to give up. So Derby had Durand arrested on a charge of larceny. He was acquitted of the alleged theft of the ladder. The other case will be heard later.

Of Course, No Willie Could Smoke Foul Old Briar Pipe

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 29.—Emerging from the courthouse, after he had been questioned about the Hall and Mills murders, Willie Stevens faced a group of reporters belligerently and said:

"I want you fellows to stop calling me Willie. Call me William Stevens or Mr. Stevens. I want you to distinctly understand I am not feeble-minded and I am not a sissy.

"If you don't believe me," he continued, extracting a battered black briar from his pocket, "smell this pipe."

DISMISSAL OF LLOYD GEORGE DEMANDED

London, Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—Dismissal of Premier Lloyd George is one of the demands contained in a manifesto circulated by Independent Laborites today. It charges that capitalism is dictating the Near East policy. In addition to dismissal of the Premier the manifesto demands recognition of the Turkish peace conditions; an immediate peace conference; summoning of the British Parliament.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS' DUES IN ARREARS

Geneva, Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—The League of Nations is in financial difficulties. According to the Finance Department $1,000,000 subscriptions by member nations was not paid last year. This year 55 per cent. of the subscriptions have not been paid.

RUSSIANS FIGHT TO TAKE OVER VLADIVOSTOCK

Tokio, Sept. 29.—Advices from Siberia state fighting has started between the Red forces and the Whites, the former preparing to take the city of Vladivostok as soon as it is evacuated by the Japanese. Spasak is about to fall to the Chita forces, these advices stated.

Investigation has revealed that charges the general staff in Siberia disposed of a large quantity of arms to the Dietrichs government in Vladivostok and to Chang Tso Lin, Chinese war lord, are substantially correct and may result in a Cabinet crisis.

The government today admitted that arms entrusted to the care of the Japanese in Vladivostok when the Czecho-Slovakian forces evacuated Siberia have disappeared, having been sold to Chang Tso Lin.

The government will pay Czecho-Slovakia. A movement has been started to court-martial the Siberian command.

COX-ALLEN FEUD IS RENEWED MORE BITTERLY

SMASHES HARMONY OF G.O.P.

Attorney General and His Followers Faced by Political Extinction

A bitter, undercover fight between Governor Cox and Attorney-General Allen has broken out today with a fierce intensity that overshadows their gruelling primary battle.

So hot has the feeling between them been enkindled that the Attorney General, within a few hours, has received word from the Cox forces that every man who supported him in the contest against the Governor will be driven out of high position in the Republican party and his friends in public office will be made to walk the plank sooner or later.

FRIENDS ENRAGED.

Underneath the surface semblance of harmony, a fire is smoking which threatens to break out into serious flames.

Attorney General Allen's friends are enraged by the snubs and insults they say have been heaped upon him since his unsuccessful campaign against the Governor.

They claim he took "his licking like a good sport," but that the interests which he attacked during the campaign have refused to bury the hatchet, except in his head.

Allen's friends said today that the first attempt to bury him socially as well as politically was in evidence at the nightbefore get-together held by the Republican Club of Massachusetts at the Hotel Brunswick. He was the only occupant of State office not given a seat at the head table.

It is said that Mrs. Allen, to whom politics is new, was anxious to see the celebration and to hear the speechmaking and that the Attorney General, although feeling the snub, bought six tickets and brought Mrs. Allen with four of her friends to the banquet. They occupied an inconspicuous table during the festivities.

IGNORED BY LEADERS.

Later, the State officers, together with Senator Lodge and Secretary of War Weeks, held a reception to the several hundred men and women present, but the attorney-general was not invited to a place in the receiving line. Surrounded by his immediate friends, he was greeted however by scores of men and women who congratulated him upon his manner of accepting defeat and pledged themselves to be with him if the occasion arose in the future.

During the informal reception, one of the visitors is said to have remarked: "Well, I'll see you at the convention tomorrow." Allen is said to have replied: "I think not. I have not been invited."

Whether that reply was carried to the Republican chiefs is only a surmise, but on the morning of convention day an agent of the Republican State Committee is said to have called on Allen and to have told him: "Sorry, Mr. Allen, but we forgot you." Allen was then offered two seats in the gallery of Symphony Hall.

He said that, failing to be invited, he had made other arrangements for the day.

Mr. Allen's friends are saying that the details of a Republican convention are usually ironed out with such care that the story he was "forgotten" will fail to hold water. They also are recalling that Joseph E. Warner, although a defeated candidate two years ago, was not only invited to the platform, but was also to present a resolution to the convention.

Betty Alden Reveals the Wedding Plans of Miriam Fenno at Beverly Farms

By BETTY ALDEN.

IT'S hard to say who is the more keenly interested in sporting activities—the Bayard Warrens or the Bayard Tuckermans, Jr., for both these young couples are always in the midst of every affair along the North Shore, whether it's a horse show, a hunt at the Myopia or a dog show.

Bayard, of course, is rather an unusual name, and yet those two attractive sisters, Elizabeth and Phyllis Sears, both married men with such names, the former Elizabeth Sears, or "Lily," as she is known to her friends, now being Mrs. Bayard Warren and her sister, Mrs. Tuckerman, Jr.

Last year the Eastern Dog Club held its show at "The Saverns," the Hamilton estate of the Bayard Tuckermans. On this occasion the members and their guests were given a luncheon, an al fresco affair, by the one-time Phyllis Sears and her spouse. Tomorrow, the Bayard Warrens are holding a dog show at "Barbery Hill," their Pride's Crossing estate, and they have also sent out luncheon invitations for the event.

On this occasion the gold medal of the Eastern Dog Club is to be awarded, and there is, naturally, a keen rivalry for the capture of this trophy.

Speaking of the former Sears girls, both Mrs. Warren and her sister drive maroon-colored coupes of the same make and type, so that dwellers along the Shore never know, at a distance, which of the two Sears girls they're seeing.

ONE of the most important brides of the season will be Miss Miriam Fenno, daughter of the J. Brooks Fennoes of Commonwealth avenue and Beverly Cove.

Miss Pauline Fenno of Beacon street has been selected to serve as maid of honor, while the attractive group of bridesmaids includes the Misses Elinor Jackson, Sybil Appleton, Barbara Foster, Katherine Abbott, Katherine Lane and Mabel Coats.

One could hardly expect Miriam Fenno to select her bridal attendants without including Sybil Appleton, daughter of Mrs. Randolph Morgan Appleton, for the bride-to-be and Miss Appleton spent six months together in France working in the devastated regions.

The ceremony takes place on October 21, at 2:30, in St. John's Church, Beverly Farms, and will be followed by a reception at the Beverly Cove Summer place of the bride's parents.

It was only a little over a month ago that announcement was made of Miss Fenno's engagement to John Simpkins, son of Mrs. Nathaniel Simpkins. Which reminds me that it is becoming more and more the fashion to promise to "love, honor and obey" shortly after the betrothal announcement.

The day of the long engagement seems to be past. I feel quite certain that several young couples, whose engagements have just been announced, will very shortly make the all-important journey to the altar.

JOHN McKIBBIN and Miss Emily W. McKibbin of Commonwealth avenue have arrived in Newport at Laforge cottage for a brief stay.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW FLETCHER of New York are giving a dinner dance tonight at the Piping Rock Club for the bridal party of their daughter, Miss Jean Fletcher, whose marriage to Harrison G. Reynolds of Boston takes place tomorrow at Latington, L. I.

The groom, a Harvard '17 man and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reynolds, has selected his corps of ushers mostly from Boston, and quite a Hub contingent is going to Long Island for the wedding.

NEARER at home than the Reynolds-Fletcher nuptials, and coming also tomorrow are the Loring-Bacon and Bradlee-Lanman weddings. The former will be solemnized at high noon in Emmanuel Church, while the latter has for its setting the Unitarian Church at Chestnut Hill.

MISS PAULINE FENNO

Miss Pauline Fenno of No. 238 Beacon street is to serve as maid of honor at the wedding of Miss Miriam Fenno and John Simpkins at Beverly Farms October 21.

MR. AND MRS. SYDNEY E. HUTCHINSON, who spent the Summer at their Beverly Farms place, stopped off in New York for a few days before going on to their Winter home in Philadelphia. Their Beverly Farms place is known as "Sydith Terrace."

BRITON WANTS TO SPANK MISS BAKER

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

London, Sept. 29.—Mary Landon Baker, that Chicago girl, who has changed her ideas about matrimony so frequently, has not caused any great upheaval of English favor for American women during her stay in London.

Perhaps "The Londoner," who writes a column in the Evening Standard had been assigned to "cover" Mary and her matrimonial foibles; at any rate he gave her a verbal spanking in his column as follows:

"If young Mr. Allister McCormick had any character he would not be trotting after Miss Mary Landon Baker, always persistently advertised as the American heiress who is about the silliest young woman I have read about for a long time.

"Mary Landon Baker is seeking notoriety when she ought to be spanked. Evidently possessed of too much money, she no doubt thinks it a fine thing to get a reputation as being the 'shy bride' and I suppose, thinks it an agreeable pastime to get Allister to propose to her once a month to accept him and then skedaddle on the day of the marriage—which she did for the fifth time, skipping from London to Paris.

"Allister would do well to let such an inconsequent minded young female alone, so her parents could send her to a cokkery school, whilst he chose some really nice girl who knows her own mind. At present folks are just laughing at him.

MRS. INEZ SPRAGUE STINESS.

WELLESLEY AUTO BAN LIFTED

Shades of Wellesley founders!

Students now may go automobile riding within the town limits without chaperons up to 9:45 at night.

Furthermore, they can return to college in machines from week-end parties without chaperons, providing they have the permission of the college authorities.

Other equally radical changes have been made to relax the rigid disciplinary system that has been in vogue, as announced Miss Edith Brandt of Philadelphia, president of the College Government Association.

'JAZZ CLOTHES' NO LONGER IN DEMAND

Hundreds of girl models promenading through the halls of Mechanics Building proved the feature of the Men's Apparel Show.

Mechanics Building has been visited by more than fifty thousand people since the show opened.

Charles Wry, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers, declared that the larger men's stores of the country are in economic need and that they receive a net profit of only one and three-tenths cents on a dollar.

Julius Morse, vice-president of the National Retail Clothiers' Association and president of the Leopold Morse Company, centered his talk on the value of the retail clothes salesman knowing his goods better. He also suggested that they use better English and develop a memory.

Purchases made by retail dealers from all sections of New England indicate that the "so-called jazz clothes" are no longer in demand. Men demand trousers that have cuffs.

Two boys of about twelve years appearing in dress suits were acclaimed the best exhibit of the day. With them, representing the Read & White Clothing Company, was a bride and groom.

A docile donkey, attired in old fashioned minstrel clothing was the exhibit of the Wellington Shirt Company.

Miss Farrar, a model for George L. Griffin & Company, entered the much talked of promenade attired in a man's dress suit and received heavy applause.

A hat factory was established in the hall where the Berg Hat Company of New Jersey demonstrated the making of straw and felt hats.

MRS. MILLS WAS SHOT 3 TIMES; THROAT CUT

By International News Service.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 29.—Disclosures that may presage important new developments in New Jersey's famous double murder mystery resulted today from the exhumation of the body of Mrs. Eleanor Mills. Mrs. Mills' body was found on September 16 beside that of Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of St. John's Church, in an orchard on the outskirts of New Brunswick.

Examination of the body showed that in addition to three bullet wounds in her head, any one of which probably would have proved fatal, Mrs. Mills' throat had been cut and the jugular vein, the windpipe and the carotid artery severed. The wound in her throat apparently had been made with a sharp instrument. No opinion was expressed as a result of the autopsy as to whether Mrs. Mills' throat was cut before or after the bullet wounds were inflicted.

Announcement of the result of today's autopsy was the first definite information made public that Mrs. Mills had suffered violence other than through bullet wounds. The first autopsy, performed by Dr. William H. Long, county physician of Somerset County, failed to make mention of mutilation of the womans' throat, and also said only one bullet wound had been found.

The report of the autopsy was incorporated in a statement by A. M. Beekman, Somerset county prosecutor.

"Three unmistakable bullet wounds were found in the head," Beekman said. "Three bullets were found in the head of the type which we are informed are used only in an automatic pistol. One of the bullets entered the centre of the forehead near the hair line. One bullet entered the upper right cheek. Another entered the right temple region above the ear.

BULLET THROUGH HEAD.

"The bullet in the right temple apparently had passed through the head and also through the skull on the opposite side, but not through the scalp, and was found between the scalp and the skull above the region of the left ear. The two bullets were found in the brain tissue.

"Each of these bullet wounds was capable of being fatal, as all of them penetrated vital portions of the brain region."

to sentence Earle to a term in the House of Correction.

Saltonstall said that a fine would mean nothing to Earle, and that it was an excellent change to show that wealth and position could not affect justice.

Expressing regret at having to do so, in view of the nice things said by the district attorney and Earle's counsel, former Attorney-General Herbert Parker, Judge Hammond imposed the time sentence.

Earle had pleaded guilty to two counts of reckless driving and operating an auto so as to endanger lives, returned by the Middlesex County Grand Jury following an investigation of the fatal race at Reading.

The indictments were returned September 11.

Really Dry When Old Soaks Die, Says White

New York, Sept. 29.—The gradual dying off of the old soaks will prove the greatest aid in prohibition enforcement, said William Allen White, battling newspaper publisher of Emporia, Kansas, who was in New York today.

"Prohibition is not prohibiting now in the naturally wet areas," he said, "but as the old soaks die off, saturation will be less, and as the saturation gradually decreases enforcement will be easier.

"New York and the seaboard cities are going through a rather well-known stage which the large cities in prohibition States went through before they dried up."

BACKERS SURE HEARST WILL BE NAMED

By International News Service.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 29.—Charles F. Murphy leader of Tammany Hall, held the key to the Democratic gubernatorial puzzle today, with the time for nomination of the State ticket near.

A series of conferences between the Tammany leader, the up-State backers of ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith and the down-State friends of William R. Hearst failed to bring any definite announcement from Tammany headquarters that the divergent elements of the party have been brought together. The negotiations continued today.

Friends of the ex-Governor say: "Smith will accept no compromise." Those who have consistently urged the nomination of Mr. Hearst, among them Mayor John F. Hylan and John H. McCooey, the Brooklyn leader, were more confident today that the publisher will be selected to head the ticket.

"I believe Mr. Hearst will be nominated for Governor," said Mayor Hylan.

It was conceded that neither the backers of ex-Governor Smith nor the friends of Mr. Hearst had sufficient votes to secure nomination without drawing considerable support from the bloc of 197 delegates from Manhattan and the Bronx controlled by Murphy.

The resolutions committee wrestled with a light wines and beer plank for several hours, at the end of which it appeared that the convention itself would be called upon to decide whether the party would go before the voters this Fall on a platform calling for modification of the Volstead law.

The platform denounced the administration of President Harding and Governor Miller for "subservience to great corporate interests" and pledged the party to the enactment of soldier bonus legislation and cheaper rates for public utilities.

Are a Revelation in Clothing Values to All Who Have Seen Them

FOR over twenty-four years Griffin's has been noted as a store of dependability and quality where only merchandise of merit and substantial value could find place.

It was inevitable, therefore, when we decided to install a new department of Men's Clothing, that we would search for a line of clothes that would measure up to Griffin standards in every detail.

In Stratford Clothes, nationally known as the "Style Clothes of America," we believe we have found that exceptional brand of clothing that measures up to our ideals—and yours.

Stratford Clothes are absolutely the last word in modern clothes making. Not alone are they distinctive because of tasteful style in designing, but also because of the exclusive fabrics from which they are fashioned.

Stratford Individualities

Stratford coats, being made without body lining, wear infinitely longer. No linings to wear out.

Stratford coats are made with two-way pockets, permitting you to use the regulation flap pocket or a welt pocked if preferred.

Stratford trousers are made with double thickness at crotch. Double fabric means double strength.

Stratford trousers are made are made with double stays. Pockets will not sag, and trousers give longer wear.

Debut as Man Model Enough for Flapper

FALL AND WINTER, 1922

The natty gent in the fashion plate above, who leans so delicately on his cane is a correct example of what the well-dressed young business man will wear to this season's Rotary Club meetings. The suit comes with two pants.

By THE FLAPPER.
(Caryl Frink)

Being a man model at a fashion show is a vacation for the brains You don't hafta know nuthin'. I is I am for the job with the rest of the cake-munchers over at the Garment show in the Mechanics Building and made the perfect 36 class with honors.

"Now, snap into it, fellows," the manager of the show told us before we went on to the runway. "Put everything you have into it and I just know you'll all do fine."

"This is a nice, easy way to earn a living," I remarked to the Stylish Stout Golf Suit model.

IT'S A MEAN JOB.

"It is not," he snapped at me. "My boots are simply killing me! I've been on my feet for hours."

"Listen to him," spoke up a youth in a 40 minute boiled shirt, "with but if you were a 40 model in a 36 suit. That's my difficulty. I dare not take a full sized breath lest I turn this into a burlesque show."

"You ought to cut out potatoes and ice cream sodas," suggested the slim youth in the High School Boys' Long Trouser suit. "That's what I did and I lost fifteen pounds. If you don't diet you'll lose your figure and your job."

FLAP FEELS FOOLISH.

"Oh, there's nothing like keeping in shape," the Golf model put in. "There's a good exercise. Arms to throat in two counts, ready, one — two — "

"Come come boys," interrupted the manager, briskly. "No nonsense. The music's started. Get in line. Now all of you, shoulders back, heads erect, breathe deep and remember you are wearing Boston Apparel Show garments!"

The line started to move forward onto the stage, and the show was on. Now that it's all over, and I feel free to talk, I don't mind telling you, man to man, that I never felt fool sher in my life.

ZERO AS A CAREER.

Just walking around in front of a lot of tough coat and suit buyers and salesmen pretending that nothing was the matter and everything was all right. Being an animated clothing store dummy is zero in careers.

After the show the boys were congratulating one another on their performance.

"You did beautifully" the model for Klever Kut Klothes for Klassy Klothmen, told me.

"You were a riot yourself," I told him.

"Oh, that's nothing," he yawned, polishing his nails on his klassy coat sleeve. "I could gone in the movies."

"You don't say," I said politely "Why didn't you?"

"Oh, I like this better," he said. The klever kid gave his half moon a final flick. "It keeps me closer to my audiences."

COL. FOOTE AND REP. FRANCIS IN TANK CLASH

State Commissioner of Public Safety Alfred F. Foote today threatened to bar Representative William J. Francis from the hearing and to put him out of the room at the State House, when Francis, declared the State commissioners are defying the rule of the people by allowing gasoline tanks to be built in thickly-settled tenement districts.

The fight came during the protest of a score of Charlestown residents against the petition of the General Baking Company to erect a forty-car garage and a 1,000 gallon gasoline tank at the junction of Edgeworth, Ferrin and Tremont streets.

ELECTED CUKLEY.

"Everyone knows how the people of Charlestown stand against these tanks," said Francis. "The feeling was so great that the vote of the Charlestown people was sufficient to elect the Mayor of Boston on that issue at the last election.

"Your department is not bigger than the Legislature or the Governor, who say that a gasoline tank should not be built within 50 feet of a church or school."

"You've gone too far," said Colonel Foote. "I can't stand for any of that talk."

"You are not going to bulldoze or browbeat me," retorted Francis.

NOT BROWBEATING.

"You know me well enough, Francis, to know that I don't browbeat anybody," said Foote.

Representative James J. Mellen of Charlestown who conducted the hearing produced several women residents who were recorded in opposition to the gas tank because they have invested the lives of themselves and their families. They included Mrs. Sarah Doherty of No. 7 Monument street and Mrs. Marie Doherty, Miss Eileen Quinn and Susan Gaines of No. 41 Carney street.

Coal for Canada Goes Through New England

The [illegible] anthracite coal is being shipped from the United States into Canada while [illegible] of New England are being supplied to rely upon [illegible] coal for household purposes, it was revealed in the protest of Governor Percival Baxter of Maine to the Fuel Administrator in Washington.

The Governor insists Maine should have priority over Canada because of its cold climate which makes it important to stop coal to many parts of this State during the Winter. And Maine's hard coal [illegible] do not approach those of Massachusetts.

As far as coal can be learned no profit about Canada shipments of hard coal has gone to Washington from Massachusetts.

GREEKS NAME VENIZELISTS FOR CABINET

Athens, Sept. 29. (By the Associated Press.)—After an all night session the revolutionary committee decided to submit to King George the names of a cabinet with Admiral Zaimis as Premier and M. Politis as Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. Politis held the foreign portfolio under Venizelos.

As Minister of War the committee selected General Pangalos, and as Minister of the Navy, Admiral Dapontes. Both were removed from the active list by recent government.

Others named for Cabinet places were A. Xander Diomedis, active leader of the Venizelist party and Mr. Leucadis, Calligas and Canellopoulos, former high commissioner at Constantinople.

Kellogg's Bran is nature's food and it works in a natural way!

And, you can permanently rid yourself of this dangerous condition by the daily use of a delicious, appetizing cereal—Kellogg's BRAN, cooked and krumbled! Don't let constipation "get away" with you or any of your family! Don't neglect such danger signals as bad breath, coated tongue, brain fag, feverish headaches, cold taste! No matter how aught the symptoms, FIGHT CONSTIPATION! It is deadly, once it gets its grip on your system!

Physicians indorse Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, for constipation because it is nature's food and because it relieves constipation permanently. The only caution is to eat Bran regularly and then the severest case can be combated successfully! Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in chronic cases, eat Bran with each meal! Results will astonish you! Bran causes no irritation or discomfort. It sweeps and cleans and purifies, leaving the eliminative tract in healthy, active condition that throws off the poisons and keeps you free from dangerous toxic conditions!

You should know that Bran not only permanently relieves constipation, but is one of the most wonderful of foods. It is rich in all elements upon which the body thrives—mineral salts, proteins, fats, carbo-hydrates. Bran does wonderful work for children, making them strong and robust!

Eat Kellogg's Bran as a cereal or sprinkled over your favorite cereals! Its nut-like flavor is delicious. Or, use it in countless palate-appealing ways for baking and cooking. Buy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, from all grocers.

DRUG FIEND EXPOSED BY BOSTON GIRL'S LOVE

Fly to Just One Wedding After Another

BUSY LIFE OF FULLER AND WIFE

From Bear Island to New York, to Boston, to Glen Cove, to Lawrence, for Nuptials

Lieutenant R Buckminster Fuller and Mrs. Fuller (the Lieutenant is a well known member of the Naval Reserve) have received numerous wedding invitations, and in order to avail themselves of the invitations have found it necessary to borrow Vincent Astor's mono-seaplane.

Leaving Bear Island, Me., today, the Buckminster Fullers flew to New York, and from there they were to come to Boston for a wedding, at which the lieutenant was to act as usher. After the Boston wedding they were to fly to Glen Cove for another wedding. From the Glen Cove wedding they will fly to a wedding in Lawrence. Following the Lawrence nuptials they will fly back to New York, where Lieutenant Fuller is to attend a dinner.

The couple have been in the air practically continuously since last Wednesday, when they left New York in Mr. Astor's flying boat. They went to Newport for two hours, and then flew to Wiscasset, Me., where they spent the night. Then they made flights around Bar Harbor and at other points along the Maine coast, stopping at Bear Island in Penobscot Bay. The trip from New York to Bar Harbor was made in four and three-quarter hours actual flying time.

Mr. Astor's boat carries five passengers, is equipped with 400-horsepower L berty motors and can make 120 miles an hour.

RAISED BILLS IN CRAP GAME; GETS JAIL TERM

Robert Love, colored, was sentenced to thirty days in the East Cambridge jail today by Federal Judge Morton, after he had pleaded guilty to a federal indictment charging him with having raised the figures on three banknotes.

The passing of the moneys occurred, according to the evidence, at a crap game on Thorndike street, at which one William J. Allen aided and abetted by Lady Luck, came forth victor. William was figuring out how many pairs of shoes he could purchase for baby when he discovered that two of the ten dollar bills faded by Robert had been raised from ones, and that one of the twenties had originally been a ten. Robert was traced through a ticket to Newark, N. J.

STREET FIGHTERS BREAK BIG WINDOW

A terrific fight was staged today between two men in front of the Italian lunchroom at No. 241 Washington street. Early breakfasters rushed to the street when a fierce battle broke out between the two men. In the fight one of the fighters threw the other into the window, breaking the heavy plate glass. The fight was called off when employes of the lunchroom ran out, disappearing before anybody could obtain a good look at them. The cause of the fight is not known.

PARK FROM MOTOR CAUSES $3,000 FIRE

A spark from a running motor car ignited a pile of sawdust today and caused a fire that did $3,000 damage to the fifth floor of the building at No. 11 Beverly street, occupied by A. J. Richardson, cabinet maker; John Dow, pattern maker, and I. Moxie, pattern maker. Some damage was caused in the factory of Armstrong & Bartholomaus on the floor below.

Caught in Hotel

FREDERICK LEEDS.
Lumber magnate who was arrested here. A young woman was arrested at the same time.

WIFE WANTS TO TAKE ERRING RECTOR BACK

Frederick Leeds, the former wealthy Episcopal clergyman, who was arrested with Ellen Reid at the Hotel Lenox a wek ago, has prospect of forgiveness by the wife, although she was the one who put the Boston police on the trail of the couple.

In the City Court today Mrs. Leeds was heard to remark to Attorney Thomas Grady, counsel for her husband:

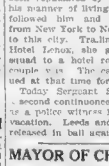
"I want my husband sent to a sanitarium so he may get back to normal and then return home."

When Leeds and Ellen Reid were arraigned after their arrest, Mrs. Leeds told how her husband had been repudiated by his church for his manner of living. She said she followed him and the Reid girl from New York to New Haven, then to this city. Trailing them to the Hotel Lenox, she guided a police squad to a hotel room, where the couple was. The case was continued at that time for investigation.

Today Sergeant Studley secured a second continuance, to October 17, as a police witness he needed is on vacation. Leeds and the girl were released in bail again.

MAYOR OF CHELSEA HAS PNEUMONIA

Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley of Chelsea is seriously ill with pneumonia at Commonwealth Hospital, Chelsea.



Mayor L. F. Quigley

The Mayor went to the hospital Tuesday for a minor operation on his nose. This was accomplished with little trouble and it was expected he would leave today.

Late yesterday his condition changed suddenly and he contracted pneumonia. He grew rapidly worse and attending physicians said today his condition was serious.

ENGLISH RULES IN YALE-OXFORD DEBATE

New Haven, Ct., Sept. 29.—English style will be followed in the Yale-Oxford debate at Yale on October 6. Two Yale men and one Oxford man will uphold the negative side of the question, and two Oxford men and one Yale man will defend the affirmative. This will be the first debate at Yale under these rules.

GETS DIVORCE OVER TRI-WEEKLY DRUNK

Worcester, Sept. 29.—Mrs. Anna B. Stone declared her husband, Levi, would get drunk thrice weekly and on each occasion would threaten her with dire happenings. Once he kicked her clean out of bed. Judge Bishop granted her a divorce.

'GET RICH' OUT, THEN IN AGAIN

Willoughby Leaves Brookline; Chicago Doesn't Want Him, but Boston Does

Dodge Willoughby, urbane promoter, who is held by some to be the original of the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" tales, slipped through Brookline Court today, but was turned over to the Boston police on another charge.

Willoughby, portly and dressed to the minute, was released on probation in Norfolk Superior Court at Dedham Monday after pleading guilty of eight counts of larceny from the Brookline Trust Co., aggregating $696. But he was taken by the Brookline police who had a request for him from the Chicago police on a charge of defrauding the Drake Hotel Company of $34.

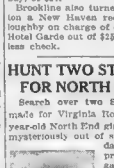
Chief Rutherford told Judge Perkins in Brookline Court today that the Chicago authorities were not coming on for Willoughby. Rutherford asked that the case be dropped, which was done.

Then Willoughby told the court he understood the Boston police had a warrant for him. He had been held three months in Dedham Jail. The Chicago case had been dropped. Willoughby obviously wished to go. But the court said the Boston complaint was another matter. So Willoughby was turned over to Special Officer Frank McNabb of Back Bay Station to answer to a charge of defrauding Garrison Hall, Back Bay, of $27.

Brookline also turned over to Boston a New Haven request for Willoughby on charge of defrauding the Hotel Garde out of $25 with a worthless check.

HUNT TWO STATES FOR NORTH END GIRL

Search over two States is being made for Virginia Ronzano, sixteen-year-old North End girl, who dropped mysteriously out of sight last Tuesday. Police and private investigators are baffled and the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Ronzano, of No. 102 Salem street, North End, fear some mishap to their daughter.



Virginia Ronzano

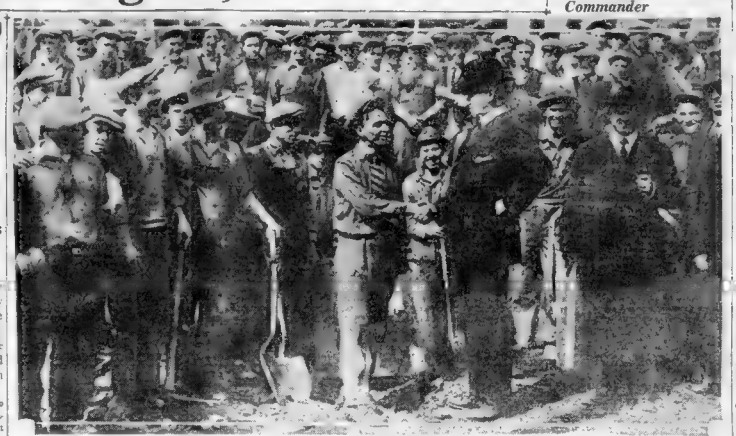
Virginia left her home as usual to go to her place of employment. She never arrived there. The possibility of her having eloped with a young man with whom she has been friendly has been investigated by the girl's father who visited Providence, believing that the couple may have gone there and been married. A search of the records failed to show that any marriage license had been granted.

BILL SEEKS HONORS FOR NATIONAL GUARD

A medal of honor for every member of the National Guard who distinguishes himself "by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life, above and beyond the call of duty, while on active service." Such a reward is provided in a bill filed for the incoming Legislature today by the Society of the Sons of the Revolution. The award would be made by the Governor in the name of the Commonwealth.

RECORD CARGO OF PINEAPPLE ARRIVES

The steamship Besaimer City, from San Francisco, is unloading the largest cargo of pineapple, 85,000 large cases, at Commonwealth Pier, that ever came to the port of Boston. This is enough pineapple to keep Boston supplied for the Winter.



26TH DIVISION COMMANDER LOOKS TUNNEL JOB OVER

They've got a gang of war vets building the tunnel to East Boston. Today General Clarence R. Edwards took a trip "over there" to look the work over and see the boys. Here he is shown shaking hands with Albert J. Day, one of the war veterans.

FRYE WATCHED BY MEN IN OWN SQUAD

Portland, Me., Sept. 29.—Ralph A. Frye the Federal narcotic inspector from Boston now under arrest here on a charge of extortion, was "shadowed" by men in his own narcotic squad, sent on here under secret orders from Boston and New York.

Another interesting development today was the hint that the first complaint against Frye came, not from within the narcotic drug division of the Federal forces, but from prohibition sources.

CLAIM FRAMED UP.

Meanwhile close friends and associates of Frye were asserting vehemently today that he is victim of a frame-up plotted against him on account of his activity against bootleggers.

The first complaint against Frye which led to his present arrest and holding in $500 on an extortion charge is said to have been made to William Scannell, chief of the Federal narcotic squad at Boston. This complaint is reported to have come through the office of Seth May, chief prohibition enforcement officer for Maine.

SENT OUT.

Then came the most dramatic part of the proceedings. As the tale is now told, one narcotic agent was sent on from Boston and another from New York with instructions to report to Frye. Ostensibly they were to work under him, but in reality they were under secret orders to assure Frye and send back to their respective headquarters. That Frye was being trailed by some of the men in his own squad.

PHONE GIRL BRIDE OF POLICE OFFICER

A romance which started when the couple were pupils at the old Dearborn grammar school in Roxbury, culminated in the marriage of Miss Mary Burke, a telegraph operator, daughter of Mrs. Bridget Burke, of No. 306 Dudley street, Roxbury, and Patrolman Perfer Fortin of Station 9, Roxbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Perfer Fortin

The couple were married in St. Patrick's parochial residence by Rev. Fr. Francis O'Brien. They were attended by Edward J. McDonnell of East Boston and Miss Josephine F. Burke, the latter a sister of the bride.

PEGGY WON'T LET WEDDING BELL RING

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, the muchly loved "million dollar divorcee," has given up all thought of orange blossoms and wedding bells. She was here today en route from the coast to New York to look after her theatrical business.

"There will be no more marriages until after I complete my theatrical work," she said.

NO ENGAGEMENT.

Was she engaged to J. H. Voight, a Harvard student, as rumored?"

"Nothing to it," was the answer of her manager.

"She does not even know the man."

As to Marshal Neilan, motion picture producer and Miss Joyce's director, Peggy smiled a derisive rebuttal to inference that she would link her name with his. She would not deny or affirm the rumored engagement, however.

"What's the use?" she said.

"Everybody believes that I am engaged to someone, it might as well be Marshal Neilan now as any one else."

IN "PLEASE GET MARRIED."

Miss Joyce said she was enroute to New York to discuss a production in London this Winter in which she will be starred.

"It is one of Morocco's plays," she said. "It's Please Get Married, and she smiled a real honest-to-goodness smile as she told the name of the play.

STOCK SALESMAN GETS SIX YEARS

Springfield, Sept. 29.—Henry W. Rogers of this city, a stock salesman of the Hollister, White Company, who recently went into bankruptcy, arraigned today before Judge Webster Thayer of the Superior Court, charged with larceny of $15,000 from investors, was found guilty and sentenced to 4 to 6 years in the Charlestown Prison. Originally Rogers was charged with having stolen $10,000 from the company, but only the charge of having fleeced the company's clients of $15,000 was retained.

WALKS INTO COURT. FORCED TO REMAIN

Raffale Camerlingo left his home in East Boston and walked to police court to see his pals, Joseph and Edward Sarro, accused of assault. Special Officer Driscoll saw Raffale and arrested him. Police say Raffale admitted he and the Sarro brothers stopped Vincent Pace at Cove and Porter streets, East Boston, and at gun point took his gold watch. All three will be given a hearing on the charge of robbery Monday.

DETAIN LEPER FOR REMOVAL TO LOUISIANA

A leper, a Cambridge youth whose name is withheld by the Health Department, is isolated in a Boston Hospital today awaiting transportation to the Federal leper colony at Carville, La. Owing to the abandonment of the Massachusetts leper sanitarium at Penikese Island the unfortunate patient will have to put the length of the country between himself and his family.

The patient went to a Boston hospital for treatment and his case was diagnosed as leprosy. The State and the cities of Boston and Cambridge will share the expense of transportation.

This is the first case of leprosy in Boston for a year. The patient is a Portuguese factory hand sixteen years old, and one of a large family.

POISONED GIRL FOUND IN DOORWAY

Lying unconscious in a doorway at No. 63 Franklin street, a golden haired girl, apparently twenty years old, neatly dressed in a black gown of good material, was found a few hours before midnight suffering from the effects of what is believed to be poison.

On the way to the Relief Station the girl aroused from her stupor for a moment.

"Mother—Oh, Mother," she said feebly. Then she closed her eyes in unconsciousness again.

Discovery of her prostrate body was made by a woman passerby. This woman made a hasty examination of the girl's condition and then notified the police.

At the hospital she again recovered consciousness for a moment. Feebly she told the physicians that she is Bernice Waldron.

She said her home address was No. 232 West 60th street, New York. Inquiry in New York disclosed that that address was a vacant lot. The name of Bernice Waldron does not appear in the New York directory.

"Oh, why am I here," the girl inquired of a nurse. Because of her weak condition she was not asked by the hospital authorities what she was doing in Boston.

Pending an investigation the words "gastro-intestinal trouble" was written after the girl's name in the hospital record book.

Her personal effects gave no clues whatever to her identity or place of residence. Her little silk handbag contained nothing but a couple of handkerchiefs and a stick of chewing gum. The handkerchiefs were not initialed.

The girl had no money.

Lying in the doorway beside her, when she was found, was a black cape of good material. It was daintily lined with silk of bright hues, and her gown was, also, apparently an expensive affair. All of her clothing gave evidence of taste and means on the part of the owner.

The girl is about five feet four inches in height, with delicate, peach-bloom complexion and wavy blonde hair. Her bag contained no powder or cosmetics of any kind.

London, Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—Alderman E. C. Moore today was elected Lord Mayor of London.

ARREST ACTOR AS BOOSTER OF DOPE

John Paul Jones, Taken In Luxurious Suite, Blamed for Many Ruined Lives

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

New York, Sept. 29.—The deyoung girls in gay Broadway resorts, where he is alleged to have taught them the use of various insidious drugs, was laid today to John Paul Jones, pretty of dope, arrested as a "dope booster," who induced others, particularly girls, to become addicts.

It was through the burning love of a New York banker's son for a young Boston girl, for whom he is said to have maintained an apartment recently in the exclusive Seventies, that the arrest was made.

With the holding of Jones, whose arrest was made at almost the same time as that of Harry Dworetsky, whom the police charge with being the head of a $1,000,000 drug ring which had agents in Chicago, St. Louis and other important cities of this country, as well as Europe, Dr. Carleton Simon, head of the police narcotic squad bureau, said that one of the biggest underworld combinations engaged in the traffic of drugs has been broken up.

IN LUXURIOUS APARTMENT.

When Jones was arrested a handsome brunette woman giving the admittedly fictitious name of Mrs. Stella Gordon was taken into custody at her luxurious apartment in West 72nd street, where Jones was at the time.

This woman, Dr. Simon says, is a member of a prominent family. She is seen daily horseback riding in Central Park and often on the green of a fashionable golf course. According to Jones she fell a slave to drugs recently, but such was her willpower that she managed to free herself from the thrall of the narcotic.

Jones is a man of talent. He has played in such productions as 'Abraham Lincoln" and "Forever After."

BOSTON GIRL DISAPPEARED.

It was when in his capacity as "drug booster," so the police say, he induced the beautiful Boston girl to try taking dope, and she disappeared so that the millionaire banker's son, whose name and prestige are nationally known, appealed to the police to find her, that action was taken which finally led to Jones' arrest.

Although made separately, the arrest of Dworetsky, joint owner of a hotel in the theatrical district, may be linked up with the Jones case, in the opinion of the police.

Four alleged members of the international band of dope smugglers and sellers were hailed into court recently following a raid on the hotel owned by Dworetsky, at which time half a million dollars' worth of "snow" was found, it is said. One of the men is a brother of the hotel proprietor.

IRISH BRIDGE BLOWN UP; LIVES IN PERIL

Belfast, Sept. 29 (By International News Service).—Reports of further depredations by Irish Republicans followed the free terms promise of amnesty if they laid down their arms. The offer was made by William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State.

A bridge was blown up at Mallow just before a passenger train was to cross. The train narrowly missed plunging into the river.

Considerable opposition developed against the Tuce motion in the Dail Eireann. Indications were that it would be defeated if it came to a vote.

Battling Siki at his training quarters. Club swinging, rope skipping, shadow boxing and daily training with his sparring partners have made this giant Senegalese the most talked of boxer in the world today.

SIKI SIGNS FOR BIG GO HERE

New York, Sept. 29.—Battling Siki, the Senegalese who electrified the sporting world by his knockout of Georges Carpentier, is coming to this country to fight for Tex Rickard, according to an announcement made today.

Rickard stated that Siki had accepted his terms to meet any opponent in a bout on November 30. Siki will start for this country, Rickard declared, the third week in October and will begin training for the proposed bout early in November.

Rickard refused to state what remuneration Siki would receive. Although the promoter declined to go into data in concerning Siki's prospective opponents, it is believed that an effort will be made to match him with Harry Greb, Tom Gibbons or Gene Tunney, leading American light heavyweights, for the world's light heavyweight title. This Siki holds as a result of his knockout of Carpentier.

In the event that the Senegalese is successful in his first bout, a match with either Harry Wills or Jack Dempsey would follow.

BOXER NEAR DEATH FROM BLOW ON JAW

McKeesport Pa., Sept. 29.—Billy Light, a welterweight boxer of Wilmerding, Pa., is unconscious in a local hospital today, and Sammy Cimelli of Youngstown is in jail pending an investigation of their six-round bout here last night.

A few seconds before the final gong, Cimineli landed a right to the jaw and Light went down. Efforts to revive him proved unsuccessful and he was taken to a hospital where doctors said he was suffering from decompression of the left hemisphere of the brain.

Star English Rugby Player Now at Harvard

Harvard has a man of varied experiences on its football squad, J. A. Feeney. Although he attended the Lynn Classical School in his youth he has played only one year of American football and that year's training was gained at Leland Stanford last Fall. He is a candidate for a guard on the Crimson squad.

He was a lieutenant in the 41st American Division during the war. He lived for several years in Charlottestown, Prince Edward Island, where he learned to play English rugby and later became the star of the St. Dunstan team that won the championship in 1913 and 1914. As a three-quarter wing Feeney was the peer of any Canadian.

KENYON GRID STARS TAKE UP PRAYING

Gambier, Ohio, Sept. 29.—Like Centre College, the Kenyon College football eleven has turned to prayer for a successful season. Lane Barton, a student in the theological seminary, was selected as its parson. Gus King, former Centre star, is coaching the squad, which is now known as the praying parsons.

Gradwell Stops Duffy

Lowell, Sept. 29.—Referee Scotty Magee stopped the bout between Willie Gradwell of Newark, N. J., and East Side Jimmy Duffy of New York in the eighth round when it became evident that Duffy was outclassed.

AMATEUR MITT MEN BATTLE TONIGHT

The amateur glove wielders will be in the spotlight tonight with one of the best cards of simon pure performers under silks since last year.

The St. Joseph's T. A. of the West End will conduct a five class show at the Commercial Hall, Bowdoin square, and judging by the interest in the tournament, it is predicted that a huge throng will turn out.

The fans are manifesting the same interest in the amateurs this year as they did last year and the season of 1921 went down as the most successful in the history of the A. A. U.

Realizing that they get all the action needed at amateur shows, the fans are not slow to take advantage of the opportunities to see the boys in action, and as the Commercial Club is the headquarters for amateur boxing in this city, the fans are assured of an evening of action.

Five classes will be seen tonight. Boxers will participate in the 112, 118, 126, 135 and 147-pound classes. Watches will be awarded as prizes to the winners and runners-up.

Frank Hannon, secretary of the organization, reports the largest entry list in many moons, and for this reason the tourney will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

With a lull in the pro ranks, the fans of this city have turned their attention to the amateurs and for this reason it is predicted that the S. R. O. sign will be hung out early.

WESLEYAN PLAYS UNION TOMORROW

Middletown, Ct., Sept. 29.—The Wesleyan varsity was given a good workout against the freshman team in preparation for Saturday's game with Union. Coach Martin was pleased with the work.

Newhall, Fricke, Adams and Robinson were used back of the line Aitkin and Hatfield were tried at centre, Fyne and Studwell at guards, Captain Smith and Laganke at tackles and King and conway at ends. The combination worked well.

Studwell weighs 190 pounds and is one of the heaviest men on the squad. Laganke has bad ankles and Adams a strained shoulder, but both will get into the game Saturday.

Glenna Collett and Mrs. Gavin Meet in Golf Final

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 29.—Glenna Collett of Providence defeated Miss Edith Cummings of Chicago in the semi-final of the women's national golf tournament, 2 up.

Tomorrow Miss Collett will play in the final against Mrs. William A. Gavin of England, who today defeated Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson of Greenwich, Ct., 5 to 3.

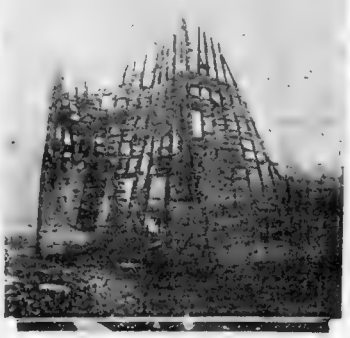
RUBINS ARE FOUND GUILTY OF ACCEPTING 'TUG' WILSON LOOT

"MARRY ME, DARLINK, AN' WE'LL FLY TO Labrador!" "Sure, Mister, What's Your Name?" Public proposals have Boston University freshmen by the ears—or the knees. This amorous scene shows H. J. Sheehan, left, and Nicholas Kalaboka proposing to Phyllis Wolf and Daisy Whitman on the steps at B. U. Blame it on the sopha. They're initiating them.

TRY AND GET ME! THAT'S JIMMY JACKSON'S answer to the Winchester School Board's demand that he attend the Chapin school. Jimmy lives with his pa and ma at No. 30 Irving street, North Winchester. The latter, with the parents of eight other colored children, must appear in court next Tuesday, charged with keeping their children from school. Jimmy hopes the trouble will last all Winter.

"PUT UP OR SHUT UP"! THAT'S AN OLD BUT expressive gambling phrase that the crew of the Mayflower hurl at the "Bluenose" supporters. The jolly tars, shown above, have collected $3,000 among them that says the "Mayflower" can trim any fishing schooner afloat. The inset shows Captain James H. Larkin. The craft has just returned to Boston with a 133,000-pound catch.

THE OPERA, JAMES! The drapy cape effect of the latest fur coats from Paris is captivating Greater Boston women. This model, fashioned of sealskin, is an ideal example of the choicest of the new coats. (International News Reel)



ALL THAT REMAINS OF THE STUDIO OF R. R. Pettigrew, well-known artist of Acton, after a disastrous fire, is the remains of the four walls of the building. Over $100,000 worth of famous paintings were burned. The paintings were mostly on biblical subjects. Mr. Pettigrew's automobile was also destroyed in the flames.

REPRESENTATIVE JEWS FROM EVERY PART OF NEW ENGLAND will be present next Sunday at the breaking of ground for the new $500,000 Temple Mishkan Tefila and Jewish Community Centre, at Seaver street and Elm Hill avenue, Roxbury. The exterior is to be of American Renaissance design, as shown in the picture.

NEW ENGLAND BOATS EXPECTED TO REVOLUTIONIZE Transportation in South America! The Lux, new type of sea sled and launched at Mystic, Ct., is now plying the waters of the Magdalena River, Colombia. Senora Ospina, wife of the President, christened the craft. (International News Reel)

KATHLEEN Never Gets Hot Under the Collar! One reason for this is her penchant for dancing on these frosty September morns. Kathleen Woods, pretty artists' model, says the only way she can stand the cool weather for outdoor posing classes is by prancing on the frost covered lawn of her home. Here she is stepping a bit with the mercury around 40. She thinks the Eskimos would appreciate her art.

RUBINS FOUND GUILTY! After several hours' deliberation, a Superior Court jury returned this verdict against Louis and Lillian Rubin of Malden, charged with receiving stolen cigarettes. It was alleged the property was stolen by "Tug" Wilson and his gang. They were up today for sentence.

EVERY MAN OR BOY OWNING A "RINGED" FACE SHOWN ABOVE WILL RECEIVE THE ARTICLE IDENTIFIED BY THE SAME NUMBER BELOW.

When you see the big Boston American camera truck today GET UP CLOSE and you may be ringed tomorrow. Take in the Apparel Show. It's worth it. The following is a list of the articles given free by merchants and manufacturers interested in the great Men's Apparel Show at Mechanics Hall: No. 1, a pair of Freaman Bros. white flannel trousers, donated by Mark M. Sink, 453 Washington St., room 611. No. 2, one of the celebrated "Congress" flannel shirts, donated by Jacob Dreyfus & Sons, 68 Summer St., Boston. No. 3, a "Tug-o'-War" suit, donated by Sweet-Orr & Co. No. 4, a fraticless bathing suit, donated by the Progress Knitting Mills of New York and Pennsylvania. (Line on exhibition at Shop 68, Men's Apparel Show.) No. 5, one sweater, donated by same mills. No. 6, "Widow Jones" boy's suit, donated by Widow Jones Co., No. 36 Otis St., Boston. No. 7, "Widow Jones" overcoat, donated by the same firm. No. 8, a Mallory hat, donated by the Mallory Hat Co., of Danbury, Conn. No. 9, another Mallory hat. No. 10, a pair of the famous "Reading" trousers, donated by J. G. Leinbach & Co., of Reading, Pa. No. 11, a pair of high-class khaki riding trousers, donated by F. H. Sprague of Orange, Mass. No. 12, a "Tug-o'-War" working suit, donated by the Sweet-Orr Co. No. 13, one of the famous "Hickok" initial buckle belts, donated by the Hickok Belt Mfg. Co., of Rochester, N. Y. No. 14, another "Tug-o'-War" working suit. No. 15, another of the celebrated "Hickok" initial buckle belts. No claims considered after 9:00 P. M. on the day following printing of the "ringed" pictures. All claims for identification must be made at the Circulation Promotion Dept., 5th Floor, Boston American. See Mr. French. This Day in History, September 29, 1922

THIS is the anniversary of the birth in 1758, of Horatio Nelson, most famous of English admirals, whose victories broke the power of Napoleon and whose life story reads like romance. He died in the battle of Trafalgar.

Food From the Skies

WASHINGTON has received from Bagdad samples of Turkish manna, which falls like dew during Autumn, lodging on the leaves of oak trees, and hardening into grain, similar to that used by the children of Israel.

Man and Maid

by Elinor Glyn

START THIS, NEW STORY TODAY

Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a wealthy Englishman, wounded and blinded in one eye in action, starts writing his diary in Paris while the war is still on. He is sick of life. The war has robbed it of all that a young man can find of joy. He tries to amuse himself in the company of several women friends, who, he feels, seek his company for his money and not for the love he craves. He starts to write a book and hires a typist, Miss Sharp. He begins to fall in love with her.

Now Go On With the Story

STILL I waited, but no Sharp family appeared. And at last I knew I had missed them somehow, a very easy thing in that path-bisected wood. So I told him he could drive like hell to my apartment in the Place des Etats Unis and off we rushed in the now torrential rain. It was one of the worst thunderstorms I have ever seen in my life.

At last I knew I had missed the Sharp family in the wood.

Of course by this time the connecting had been cut off and it took quite ten minutes to get on again, and by that time I could have yelled aloud with the feverish fret of it all, and the pain.

No one knew anything of Miss Sharp.

"Mrs. Morgan—Mrs. Norman Mann had a brought back here."

I pressed myself as much as I could and got into my car.

And in a few moments Burton brought me a brandy and soda and put it into my hand.

"It won't be cleared enough to go back to Versailles for dinner, Sir Nicholas," he said, and coughed—I was just taking my second brandy and soda myself—"so I suggest that Pierre can get something for the restaurant, if you'd be pleased."

The cough meant that Burton knows I am dreadfully upset, and I like the circumstance and thing to distract me as the end of the two evils—

"Ask them what they would prefer," answered and drank the brandy and soda down.

Burton came back in a few minutes and said there was nothing to be got from the restaurant, so I would have to dine on pain et beurre.

He had telephoned over there and no one was at home, so he had left the key with the concierge, as I knew was my wish. Then he went off to his own quarters.

I went into the dining room and helped myself to the food and wine, and then I went to my bedroom and undressed—I was just taking my second brandy and soda when Pierre came to announce that the restaurant, if would be closed.

Burton came back to me again. I had been sitting in my dressing-gown, completely exhausted from the pain et beurre.

He had telephoned over there and no one was at home, so he had left the key with the concierge, as I knew was my wish. Then he went off to his own quarters.

I went into the Duchesse de Courlande's boudoir as quickly as I can——

Burton did so at once but it seemed a long time.

No Madame la Duchesse was down at the moment, but she sent fresh compliments, and would not receive until the middle of the afternoon.

I went there about——

Are you talking from the concierge's lodge or the hotel?—Burton broke in, as at last I got the address of a Miss Sharp who has sprained her ankle badly and is lying on the floor in the Bois—do you know anything of it?"

"Sharp—Sharp—Miss Sharp—Sharp—no, I don't remember any Sharp. Who is she?"

"Oh, not related I am sure. I want to ring up and find out if they get home all right."

He could see my anxiety—at last I knew I had—he knew that I was in love with Miss Sharp—but I can't exactly say where.

The young lady never seems very particular to give me the address she would not be getting out, and that they were about to move.

Go on to the Duchesse de Courlande's house as quickly as you

NAPOLEON'S lucky day was the 2nd of the month. He was made Consul on August 2, 1802, crowned December 2, 1804, won the battle of Austerlitz December 2, 1805, and married Archduchess of Austria April 2, 1810.

"Mary" ROMANCE OF A BOSTON BUSINESS GIRL

By Elenore Meherin

Start This Story Today

MARY KELLY wins the post of private secretary to HALL DAWSON, a dynamic promoter with offices in Water street. She instinctively fears him. After the conclusion of a big deal he calls her his mascot and gives her a check for $100, which she accepts with misgivings. Reassured by Dawson, however, she plunges into her work, dreaming of the day she will be his partner. Mary goes to see the parade of the returning Yankee Division and meets PAT SULLIVAN, her childhood sweetheart. JACK MAHONEY, a young millionaire, declares his love for her. Pat takes Mary riding and she realizes she loves him only. She receives a letter of proposal from Mahoney and answers it with a refusal. Pat has a row with Dawson. Mary sits for her portrait to Allan Bruce. Dawson insults her at his house and Mrs. Dawson orders her out. She receives a letter from Pat telling her he loves her. She gets a new job.

"Mother, mother, darling!" I whispered, holding her hand.

"WILL he be back soon? Oh, why did he go?"

"He's coming now, darling."

She lay back on the pillows.

"Mother, mother darling," I whispered, holding her hand, "your hair is all little curls, you look so sweet." She scarcely seemed to hear, then she tried to sit up, a wisp of a smile on her lips.

"A cup of tea, dear, would you please?"

I ran into the kitchen, pouring it into the best cup we had, an old, beautiful thing Jack had sent me. She took it in hands that shook.

"Bring me a plain cup, Mary. I may break it."

I brought her another. She drank the tea quickly, sitting up straight a moment, a look of the most terrible aloneness of wild, helpless fright in her dear, sweet eyes; her little hand reached out. Dad took it, slipped his arms around her.

Her lips moved as though she would say something. She sank back on the pillows, so quiet, so noble—the way she had done everything.

"She is gone!"

We stood there clinging to each other. The doctor pushed us to the door.

"No! She was just going to speak!" I held to the knob.

"She is dead!" He closed the door. Dad stumbled down the hall into my room, sitting on the bed, his hands covering his face.

"Maggie! Maggie! Oh, God!" That awful, broken wail of anguish is in my ears now. I wake up at night and hear it. I see dad sitting there, rocking back and forth, calling her, crying out to her, aching for the sound of her voice—the touch of her hand—

It brought us so close together clinging to each other with a new gentleness, as though her sweet spirit moved about the homely parlor, touching us with its quiet nobility, its smiling strength.

How strange, how unbelievable that she should leave us. That she should be lying there motionless—little ma with her pretty little hands clasped like white flowers; her fluffy hair waving from her forehead; her dear eyes forever closed.

An automobile whisked round the corner, stopped at the house. Angelo helped her out. Dad shook hands and they ran up the steps. I opened the door, caught June to me, buried her cold face.

"Let me see her, quick, Mary. How is she?" I held her closer, like put my arms gently from her and stepped back, leaning against the wall, trying to speak. Angelo put his arms around her.

"We're not too late, Mary?" he asked, his eyes filled as though it were his own mother. I nodded to him.

"Mary!" June opened her arms to me. "Why didn't you keep her, Oh, God, this is too much!"

Oh, if was terrible to hear her cry like that. "I can't bear it, Mary. Little ma—not to wait for me! Did she ask for me? Did she know we were coming? Did she miss me at all? Why did I go! Oh, God, I can't bear it."

And Angelo, who had seemed always so young, so full of fun, was suddenly strong, tender. "I'll help you, darling," he whispered to her. "I'll help you."

Two days before Christmas was the funeral. I did as she asked—left the wreaths in the window because they looked so cheery.

When dad and I came back to that silent house alone that night the red berries were the first things he saw.

"She made them, Mary," he said, with a quietness that was more tragic, more filled with grief, than any cry. "I'm glad nobody took them down. She put them there."

I went to my room to take off my things and suddenly I heard a low sound, a quiver of music. I ran into the hall, listening, almost overpowered by the piercing anguish of the song, that was the most heartbroken moan I ever heard. Dad was fumbling at the piano, singing in thin, quivering broken tones—singing the old songs to her.

When I went to the parlor he was sitting in his old morris chair, his head bowed in his hands. I sat in her rocker beside him, it might have been an hour, and then he hand reached out and closed in mine the way it used to on ma's. The touch roused him.

"Maggie, little Maggie!" he whispered and went out of the room—out of the house.

Half an hour I waited in that silent house for dad to come in. Then I went out to look for him. I met him, his hands behind his back, his head bent. I linked my arm in his and on together we walked for miles. So many nights we did that I think the stones must yet echo with our footsteps.

When we came home I made up a bed in Gracie's little room for him. He couldn't go back to that room of theirs where she lay, that hushed, despairing moment when at last, we knew that she must go; when at last the wild terror of death brought its gasping anguish even to her serene eyes. We closed that door, too, on its images, its memories. But we could not shut them out. The house was filled with the vision of her flashing from every corner to our aching hearts. Everywhere was her handiwork, her impress. The house became a torment to us.

We stayed home very little in those first days. At night we went for dinner to June or to Delia. It seemed imperative that we must keep together.

There was no Christmas—there couldn't be. I gave the signet ring to Gracie because ma was so pleased when I showed it to her. But the holiday spirit brought grief only more poignantly to our hearts.

Jack sent me a jewel box—a rich, beautiful thing of cloisonne. The design was perfectly wrought in blue and rose and the same inside and out. I had written Jack that ma was ill—nothing more.

"You hear from him all the time?" June looked at the box, a wistful tenderness on her face. "It's a pity you don't love him, Mary," she said. "If you were married now you would have some one else to bear it with you."

I had thought that very thing as I watched her and Angelo. June missed ma as much as I did. She wanted her opinion, her advice, now more than she ever had.

"Mary, if you know how I longed to hear what she would say! If you knew how I counted on talking to her!" Again and again she repeated that. And yet it was easier for June.

It was easier for Delia. She and Jim were so used to each other; they seemed to carry only half the weight because they bore it together.

When Allan Bruce came early in the evening and brought me the small picture of myself framed in an exquisite dull gold and a little pencil sketch of dad I was glad to see him, glad to watch that vivid, magnetic face, where the eyes were always kind now. He stayed only a little while sitting in the dining room with us, yet when he left we were all sorry. It was as though something warm and bright was gone. Dad followed him to the door insisting that he come again.

The day after Christmas I went back to work. I had been away nearly half a month. The girls, even Maud, exerted themselves to be pleasant. Brand, fussier, more nervous than usual, sent for me.

"You have been very busy, Miss Kelly," he said, in an absent tone. "We are very busy. I'm so sorry to give you all this dictaphone records the first day. Perhaps it's just as well . . . take your mind off things." He thrust a basket of dictaphone records at me.

When I went back to my desk Carrie leaned across, whispering. "What did he say? Tell me anything."

A SPLENDID MODEL FOR A JUNIOR

3820. This long-waisted frock is just right for the growing girl. It lends itself well to any of the material now in vogue, and may be trimmed with braid embroidery, braiding or contrasting material. The sleeve may be finished in wrist or in elbow length. The waist fulness may be held with a belt, sash or string girdle.

The pattern is cut in 3 sizes: 12, 14 and 16 years. A 14-year size requires 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

Forewarned.

Mr. Grumbleigh was an irritable old man, and was furious because his had no applications in answer to his advertisement for a chauffeur.

"I cannot understand it at all," he said to a candid friend.

"But didn't you say in your advertisement that the applicant must be well acquainted with the neighborhood?"

"Yes," said Grumbleigh, "I must have some one who knows his way about."

"Ah!" replied the friend: "but those who know the neighborhood would know you, too!"

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Colds

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths.

They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsilitis, a touch of malaria or grip will cause constipation, instead of constipation being their cause.

The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without constipation, due to general congestion. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Then is the cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "When can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can take, unobjectionable? I owe you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me, today. Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 515 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

At the first sign of a cold, at the first few warning sneezes, take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin and the congestion will be gone in a few hours. Don't wait until the cold has a grip on you. Mr. Henry Dean, Jr., of Rochester, N. Y., cured a stubborn cold in just that way, and Mrs. Alice Corbbrey of Haskell, Okla., uses it effectively for all the small ills of her family, such as constipation, billousness, headaches, dizziness, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pleasant-tasting aromatics. It is safe to give to infants, and children like it. Before you again resort to cold remedies containing narcotics try a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin. Any druggist will supply you, and the cost is less than a cent a dose.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

—By B. C. Forbes—

Well, how do you figure the cost of living, rising or falling? And how do you figure is it likely to go in coming months? Broadly, this is what is taking place throughout the world:

In countries where the government has been correcting currency inflation, prices of the necessaries of life are tending lower.

In countries where output of paper currency has been allowed to run riot, prices are soaring and there is widespread discontent.

Let us first glance at foreign countries.

Germany prices double during August," reads the caption of a recent cable. Taking 100 as a basis for 1914 prices, the German level on September 1 stood at 28,812. In other words, prices in Germany have multiplied 289 times.

Russia's cost of living figures make your head swim. What could be bought for 100 rubles in 1913 costs, according to the latest figures available, 544,556,824 rubles.

Austria's cost of living index rose 132 per cent. last month alone. The figure on September 1 being 16,946. In July a loaf of bread could be bought for 2,490 crowns, but last month the price jumped to 6,240 crowns. Meanwhile, wages of unskilled labor rose to about 4,600 crowns per hour.

John Bull is gradually getting down to bed rock. The index number of the London Economist recorded a decline from 4,396 on August 1 to 4,257 at the beginning of this month, while the Statist's excellent compilation showed a decline from 133.3 to 121.9 for last month. Prices in Britain are now at the lowest point since the war ended.

Prices are also moving toward more normal levels in Canada. The Canadian Department of Labor gives the August wholesale price index at 164, a decline for the month of ½ per cent. and the lowest in more than a year.

Japan also reports a drop from 266 in July to 258 in August. Price movements in that country, however, have been quite unsettled, as there is reason to fear general conditions are.

What's what at home?

If we leave the recent flurry of coal prices out of the reckoning, the figures for last month would show a slight decline.

As a matter of fact, the average level of prices in this country has moved extremely little during recent months.

What of the future.

Frankly, I hesitate to express any dogmatic opinion, particularly as the new tariff may operate in a way to upset quite a few calculations. There is reasonable prospect of labor may send awry the reasoning of theorists who predicate emphatically that the process of deflation or declining prices, will go on for years following the wartime inflation. Also, I am hopeful that grain prices will be higher rather than decline; this not solely for the sake of our farmers, but for the general prosperity of the country. Furthermore, there ought to be sufficient expansion in the demand for goods to have an influence on prices in quite a number of directions.

On the whole, I would rather buy than sell.

COTTON FUTURES MARKET RALLIES

Cotton futures in New York were affected by disquieting Liverpool news. First prices were 3 to 17 points lower. Cables were weaker. Liverpool traded both ways in New York. New Orleans and the South sold, owing to weakness in securities and foreign exchange. Local traders and Japanese kept buying. Later the list rallied almost to Thursday's close on covering.

NEW HAVEN TO PAY ON FRANC ISSUE

New York Curb Exchange has been notified by Equitable Trust that interest due October 1 on New Haven extended 5 per cent. debentures of 1925 (European franc issue) will be paid on and after that date at Bankers Trust on presentation of certificates of deposit.

$55,000,000 MERGER IS CONTEMPLATED

Commercial Credit Company of Baltimore may acquire Continental Guaranty Co. In event of merger the Commercial Company will have resources of $55,000,000 with an annual income approximating $135,000,000.

"REND IS UPWARD IN GRAIN MARKET

Trend was upward in the Chicago Wheat sold ½ lower to ¾ higher; corn, ¼ lower to ⅜ higher; oats, unchanged to ¼ higher. Wheat, September, 109¾; December, 105¼ to 105⅝; May, 104¾ to 105. Corn—September, 63¾ to 64; December, 59⅝ to 59¾; May, 57 to 57¼.

GRAY & DAVIS GET BIG AUGUST PROFIT

Gray & Davis operating statement for August shows net profit after all charges of $85,886. For the eight months ending August 31 actual net profit after all charges amounted to $160,716.

STEEL RALLIES OVER POINT IN COME-BACK

The New York market showed a good tone amid irregularity after a weak opening. Money renewed at 4½, then lifted to 5 per cent.

In the comeback U. S. Steel rallied over a point. At its low it sold for 100¾, then went to 102¼.

American Locomotive was up 4 at 125⅝ and Baldwin 2¼ at 134¼. Pittsburgh Coal staged a recovery, up 2¼ at 60⅞. Burns Bros. B rose 1¼ at 86¼. Highest prices were made in the last hour. Studebaker and Pierce-Arrow were active and strong. Lima Locomotive added 1½ at 65¾.

NATIONAL BISCUIT UP.

Large buying orders in the equipment group intimidated the short faction and an active covering movement set in which eliminated the greater portion of the forenoon decline.

National Biscuit was buoyant, rising 8 points, while Loose-Wiles gained 3¾. Gulf States Steel, Coca Cola, United Retail Stores and Adams Express registered advances of between 1 and 2 points.

Sufficient buying power developed to check the decline during the first hour and many issues rallied a point. Later, the recovery being assisted by a brisk bidding up of the Standard Oil shares, California rising 2¼ and New Jersey 2.

QUIETER ON UPTURN.

Business was quieter on the upturn and the unwillingness of the bulls to follow prices upward resulted in another attempt by the bears to raid the list. Liquidation of the high-priced tobacco stocks and a dip to new lows on the movement of U. S. Steel common, Republic, Midvale, Mexican Petroleum and Baldwin unsettled the list again around noon.

Losses of 3 to 6 points had then been sustained by Republic common and preferred, Mexican Petroleum, Midvale, Liggett Myers B and Lorillard Tobacco.

Wall St. Gossip

PRINCE & WHITELY—Passing of Pittsburgh Coal dividend was entirely unexpected. The company is in a sound financial position and operating at capacity.

A. A. HOUSMAN & CO.—The initiative still rests with the sellers; therefore we do not feel that the time is yet here to advance any general buying advice.

TOBEY & KIRK—The market readjustment is causing the bankers around stocks to provide opportunities for conservative commitments.

HALLE & STEIGLITZ—The short interest is considered to be large. Further reactions should be used for purchasing standard rails.

E. F. HUTTON & CO.—The trend of money rates is of particular importance to the immediate future.

F. B. BEECH & CO.—Would buy good stocks on all fair breaks, anticipating a substantial recovery in prices.

COPPERS and steels are recommended by one of the largest Wall Street houses for next sixty days. It is getting its customers out of motor and tire issues.

MACK TRUCKS and White are urgently bought on some quarters.

VINCENT ASTOR has been elected to the board of Illinois Central, to succeed R. E. Connolly, resigned.

MONTGOMERY WARD—September sales show progressive but decrease, and, while compared with year ago were not favorable two or three weeks ago, should be quite favorable for entire month.

RAILROAD PEOPLE on the Street say those who buy New York Central, Great Northern, Union and Southern Pacific, Atchison & Northern Pacific will make money this year.

GREAT NORTHERN is reported on a brokerage wire as having 150,000,000 bushels of wheat to move and an insufficient car supply.

SUMMERING BOAT is to put its thirty-five vessels into the coast-to coast trade.

CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN is a road which is recovering rapidly and it is expected to earn between $5 and $7 per share on the $145,000,000 common this year.

GYPSY OIL, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corporation, has completed a well in northern part of Burbank field, Oklahoma, with initial production estimated at 13,000 barrels without shooting.

MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL & Sault Ste. Marie reports for seven months ended July 31: Operating revenues, $13,416,111; net income, $1,339,882; interest, $2,619,487; other deductions, $302,512; net loss, $1,661,347.

CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & Pacific Railway Co. reports for seven months ended July 31, 1922: Operating revenues $66,084,393; operating expenses, $53,296,304; operating profit $12,787,944; non-operating income, $488,812; gross income, $13,236,456.

INTERNATIONAL COMBUSTION reports for six months ended June 30, 1922: Gross sales, $2,208,314; net income before taxes and depreciation, $315,712.

ESSEX NOTES ARE BOUGHT IN SALEM

County of Essex has sold $100,000 of highway loan renewal notes, dated October 2, 1922, and payable April 2, 1923, to Merchants National Bank, Salem at 3.62 per cent, discount plus $1.50 premium. Other bidders were: Central National Bank, Lynn, 3.545 per cent; Gloucester National Bank, 3.60 per cent; Beverly Trust Co. 3.63 per cent; Cape Ann National Bank, Gloucester, 3.61 per cent, plus $1.50; Peabody Trust Co. 3.75 per cent and plus $2, and Gloucester Safe Deposit & Trust Co., 3.75 per cent.

GUGGENHIM MUM ON COPPER STATUS

Simon Guggenheim, president of American Smelting & Refining Co., returned on Homeric after pleasure trip of several weeks to Europe. He made no comment on copper conditions. "I do not care to discuss the future prospects for buying of copper by Europe," he said, "but will say this: European countries are becoming interested in hydroelectric development, which means increased business for us. There would be more of these plants developed but for lack of capital."

MASS. GAS SAGS 2 POINTS IN BOSTON

Massachusetts Gas, sagging 2 points at 87, was a reactionary feature of the Boston market. Island Creek and Pond Creek, the Boston coals, both showed small gains in late trading, after Island Creek had yielded 1¼ at 102 in earlier transactions.

In the rails Boston & Maine Class B was up 1 at 54, while the Class A chipped ½ at 37. Old Colony was off 1¾ at 80.

Connor Stores yielded 1 at 23¾, Hood-Rubber was up 1¼ at 124. New England Telephone sold down ¾ at 116¾, then rallied.

United Shoe was up 1¼ after an early fractional recession. North Butte gave way ½ at 10½. Anaconda rallied after yielding ¼ at 51½.

Mississippi Power advanced point at 31, then sold at 30½. Copper Range lost its gain after selling up ⅛ at 40. American Telephone was ⅛ higher at 120⅞.

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

Sale of the two-apartment frame dwelling house at 36 Alton place, Brookline, is reported by the office of Frederick A. Leavitt and Henry A. Burnham. Grace C. Lyons conveys to Margaret A. Shaw who buys for a home. The assessed valuation is $14,000; of which $4,000 is on the 4,945 square feet of land.

SALES AT CAMBRIDGE.

Owing to confusion caused by errors in the directions given for reaching the property, the attendance at the auction sale of land at "Cambridge Gardens" North Cambridge, being conducted by the L. D. Griswold Land Co., was considerably smaller than expected. Despite this the bidding was brisk and about twenty lots were auctioned off. The prices realized, however, were low.

The location of the property, between North Cambridge and Arlington, makes it especially suitable for the type of development under way. Prior to the auction a number of sales were made to persons who signified their intention of proceeding immediately with the construction of homes. Among them were Joseph L. Driscoll of Roxbury, Cordin S. Marshall of Somerville, Aurora Blanchette, Patrick J. McDonald, Leonard D. Chamberlain, Angelina Dupont and Paul Hahnegren, all of Cambridge.

The auction sale will continue today and Saturday. The property may be reached by taking Belmont car at Harvard square and getting off at Concord avenue and Bright road, North Cambridge.

IN DORCHESTER.

Jane L. Anderson estate has sold to Felix Lee the frame dwelling and 5,468 feet of land at No. 21 Kenberma road, near Washington street, Dorchester. The assessed valuation is $7,000. Of that amount $1,100 is on the land.

The house at No. 27 Willis street, near Dawes street, with 3,842 feet of land, has been transferred by John F. McLaughlin to Mary E. Cannon. The tax value is $6,600, of which $1,600 is on the land.

IN ROXBURY.

The Frederick O. Prince estate has transferred to Patrick Hayes the brick house and 2,526 feet of land at No. 5 Brook avenue, near Dudley street. The assessed valuation is $6,300, of which $5,000 is on the building.

A frame dwelling at No. 61 Forest street, near Mt. Pleasant avenue, Roxbury, has been transferred to Mary E. Quick by Lucia A. Marshall. It has a tax value of $5,700, of which $2,100 is on 7,600 feet of land.

John N. McGettrick has transferred to David Groman the brick building and 3,000 feet of land at No. 63 Belmont street, corner of Schofield street, with 3,000 feet of land, all valued at $8,400.

OLD MAN HURT BY CANDIDATE'S SON

Coldbrook Springs, Sept. 29.—Orrin D. Webber, 79, was slightly injured when struck by an automobile driven by Frederick Fitzgerald, son of John F. Fitzgerald, Democratic candidate for Governor, who was a passenger in the machine. Webber, who is slightly deaf, stepped into the path of the machine. He was hit by a glancing blow by the mudguard. Witnesses say that Fitzgerald's car was traveling slowly.

Situation in the Near East May Be Only the Forerunner of Great War of the World

Good Christian people of America, good citizens, beneficiaries of our Occidental civilization, centre your attention upon the war in the Near East.

Do you think that it does not affect you because it is so far away? It concerns you more than events that happen at your door. It concerns you more than the European war did.

The European war was merely a war between white peoples, Christian peoples, so-called civilized peoples—a family quarrel, as it were—no matter how dreadful, how unwarrantable it was.

This situation in the Near East may be the beginning of the great race war, the great—truly great—war of the world—the war of the Oriental races against the Occidental races—the war of strange religions and strange standards of living and standards of morality, and strange social castes and customs, against the civilization and the standards of life and the democratic social conditions which determine our existence.

It may be the beginning of another tide of Oriental invasion, of yellow peril, a tide of terror, slaughter, devastation such as menaced Europe when Attila swept down upon the white races with his horde of Huns, and when the Turks carried the banners of Mahomet with cruelty and fanaticism to the gates of Vienna.

If this situation in the Near East is not the beginning of such an invasion it is at least the prelude to it, the clear indication of a situation which may make such a danger possible.

The Turk has been victorious over the army of Greece and has satisfied his hatred of the Greeks and all Christian people by hideous acts of outrage and bloodshed in Smyrna.

The Turk has dared to challenge the power of the greatest of the European nations, to defy France and Italy, and even England. Italy has confessed her inability to resist the Turkish advance. France, with her army of 3,800,000 men, is unwilling to use it for any other purpose than the plunder of Germany.

England is left alone, hundreds of miles from her base, with practically only her navy to depend upon to repel the Turk and protect civilized, Christian Europe against what may be the first blow—if any rate the first indication—of the Oriental menace.

Where are the bulwarks of Europe's safety and civilization? Where are the great Caucasian nations that lay as the first effective line of defence against Oriental attack?

The great empire of Austria, which turned back the Turkish tide 200 years ago, is broken to pieces, reduced to powerlessness, divided into small ineffective States to make subjugation easy by a united Oriental advance.

Where is Germany? Weakened by war, forbidden to recover, denied the right to a defensive force—drained of every atom of its economic strength to satisfy the revenges of France and to maintain France's imperialistic purpose to keep all Central Europe disunited and prostrate.

Where is Russia? Alienated by the insults of the allies, in which we dully joined; driven from association with the other nations of Europe into very probable alliance with the yellow races of Asia.

Russia, with its 150,000,000, which might turn the scale in the great world conflict, has been driven by the marauding expeditions against her which this nation of ours, together with France and England, have financed—driven by every affront that our stupid statesmanship could devise—driven by every rebuff of her friendly overtures, until from being our foremost friend and the strongest barrier against Oriental aggression that European civilization had, she has become leagued with Europe's Oriental enemies.

If the three greatest of the white nations of Europe are unable to resist the little isolated Turk and unable to prevent him from again invading southeastern Europe, how long will it be before the other Oriental nations will realize the weakness of Europe and unite to defy it, even if not to invade it?

How long then will the white races be able to maintain world domination? How long then will we be able to avert war with United Asia?

The white races are only two-fifths of the people of the world, and if Russia—part Asiatic and part European—has been compelled to ally herself with the Asiatics the man power of the Occidental races will be even further reduced and the strength of the Oriental races proportionately increased.

Possibly, in fact probably, this is not the time and the occasion when the Oriental invasion will occur, but the likelihood of its occurring is made clear to those who have any knowledge of the past and any insight into the future.

The character of the great war that will come also is made clear. The bitter hatred which the Asiatics have for the white, Christian nations is made clear.

The hideous cruelty and savage blood-thirstiness of Oriental armies is made clear.

The kind of treatment Europe may expect and America may expect from Oriental soldiers is made clear—babies impaled on bayonets, men murdered and mutilated, women dragged off by thousands into the most degrading form of slavery.

Men and women of Christian America, citizens of civilized America, centre your attention on the Near East, and realize that what is happening there may some time happen on our own shores.

We do not want war, but war is not eliminated by the fact that we do not want it.

War exists—and race war, religious war, the cruelest and bloodiest kind of war, is rife on the boundaries of Europe and Asia.

Europe—disunited, demoralized—would be little able to ward off a blow.

If the blow is not delivered now, if the inevitable conflict is postponed, surely Europe should employ the respite to end her family feuds, to build up the strength of all her nations, to unite the white peoples in power and purpose, to present an undivided front to her foe.

And we Americans, proud of our race, our nation and our ideals, must take care that we do not with weak and watery-eyed policies of pacifism render ourselves so powerless that when the world war crisis comes we will be unable to protect our civilization, our religion, or even ourselves.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

YOU are self-sufficient if born today—self-reliant and self-assertive. You are an egoist but not an egotist. You see all things from the point of view of self, but nevertheless you are not selfish.

Today is one of auspicious outlook for all projects contemplating change in position or location.

A child born today will be forceful and self-reliant, but rather domineering and cruel to other children.

FAMOUS PERSONS BORN THIS DAY:

Henry H. Richardson, architect.
Jesse Hutchinson, singer.
Frederick Schwatka, Arctic explorer.

ARE YOU STARTING YOUR CHILDREN RIGHT?

Parents, whatever you have in mind for your children's future, get an early start.

No matter what vocation you think your child may follow in after years, a good education cannot come amiss.

At the present time a great deal of time and attention is given to what is considered practical ideas in education, to fit the child more quickly for life and to support itself.

While this is good, it can be overdone, and if your child has a keen mentality, in after years it may blame you for not seeing to it that a foundation was laid in youth which would enable it to progress along classical or scientific lines.

There is a whole lot to making that "groove" in the brain, the opening wedge, as it were, by which it becomes possible for the child to work, and the man to work better for the right foundation laid in youth.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON HELPING SUN SHINE

By Garrett P. Serviss

BELOW is an unusual and a thoughtful question:

"Does the earth affect the sun in regard to light and heat? For the earth to benefit from the rays of the sun is it necessary that the earth in turn give back energy to the sun?"—Herman Koehl, New York.

Nothing is had for nothing anywhere in the universe. There is reaction between the earth and the sun. Each pulls upon the other with a force proportional to its mass. The sun pulls upon the earth with a force 330,000 times that with which the earth pulls upon the sun. Each compels the other to move around a common centre of gravity, for although that centre lies less than 300 miles from the centre of the sun, yet, all the same, the sun has to swing its gigantic form around that point within its mass because it is, so to speak, balanced against the little earth.

Thus the earth transfers a certain amount of kinetic energy, or energy of motion, to the sun. The accelerating force operating between them is measured by the sum of their masses.

By virtue of gravitational force the earth raises tides in the sun. They are relatively tiny tides, and they are formed not in a cold liquid like the ocean waters, but in a tremendous atmosphere, or shell, of incandescent gases; yet they involve the transfer of energy from the earth to the sun.

In like manner all of the planets react gravitationally upon the sun, whose attraction holds them in their orbits. Energy is so protean that its apparitions are not always predictable.

Many persons seem to have a strong predilection for the view that solar radiation, especially as manifested in light and heat, takes place only between the sun and material bodies like the earth, having no existence in parts of space that do not lie between the sun and some material substance. They appear to think that the electromagnetic character of the light-waves confirms the idea. But this is not evident. The field of force around a magnet, for instance, certainly gives every indication of spreading in all directions without regard to the existence of substances affected by the magnet's attraction.

The energy imparted from the revolving planets may be transformed in the sun in such a way as slightly to increase its output of radiation, which usually we speak of as light and heat, though they represent but a part of it. Just what effect the removal of the planets would have in diminishing the sun's radiant energy it is, perhaps, impossible to say, but it could be but a very small fraction of the total output, by far the greater part of which is due to action taking place in the body of the sun; either the gravitational motion of shrinking volume, as Helmholtz calculated, or the effect of the release of energy from radioactive solar matter, as begins now to seem probable.

Although there is, as we have seen, a certain interchange of energy between the earth and the sun, yet it cannot be said that this accounts for the maintenance of the supply of light and heat that the sun furnishes to our planet. The earth can repay but a small fraction of its debt in that way. The sun is, apparently, permanently out of pocket in behalf of all its planets.

If they were able to repay it in full it would be unnecessary to look for any other unfailing source of solar energy than the gravitational reaction of the planets. But the earth receives less than one two-thousand-millionth of the total radiation sent out by the sun, and all the planets together not more than one one-hundred-millionth—on the accepted hypothesis that the radiation occurs equally in all directions whether it is intercepted or not.

Seen and Heard

WHO caught the larger trout, FRANK FOSS of Fitchburg, chairman of the Republican State Committee, or J. SCOTT McLEARN, erstwhile "mayor" of Allston? Members of the B. A. A., where both men are frequent visitors, may have to appoint a board of arbitration to determine the merits of the claims. Foss insists the trout he caught at Lake Parlin, Me., weighs four ounces more than McLearn's and "Mac" maintains that his is larger by the same number of ounces. Both fish are mounted and an expert should be capable of settling the mooted question.

Old "TIM" KELLEY, the veteran taxi driver at the North Station, and who is known to all the regulars, is receiving the glad hand from his wide circle of friends on his return from a long and well-earned vacation.

FRANK SEIBERLICH, member of the Boston Board of Election Commissioners, is an expert in more things than voting. His dahlia garden in Jamaica Plain is one of the best in Greater Boston.

JERRY J. COMBA, leather merchant of Columbia street, was born in Milford, and has lived there all his life. For more than thirty years he has traveled here and forth to business over the B. & A. The round trip mileage is 68. Allowing 290 business days a year, he has covered 591,600 miles in 30 years. This is about 25 times around the world.

PHILIP S. PARKER, for the past dozen years chairman of the Brookline Board of Selectmen, was a recent visitor in Portland, Ore., and to say he was headed the key of the city there would be putting it mildly. In the newspaper space allotted to him he was described as a New England mayor, and Brookline was mentioned as the "biggest town in the country."

South Station Monopoly

Editor Boston American:

Why does the South Station maintain one information window for the hundreds of thousands who go there every day? Why does it treat the public like the rotten railroads of Europe? Simply because it has a monopoly. Go to any State where competing railroads exist and you will find courtesy, lower prices for food, chair car and lower berth reservations to be had upon any train at any time, and clean, well lighted and ventilated waiting rooms. Boston should have a flower garden. To the visitor it look like the back yard of a disorderly house.

Slur on Americans

Editor Boston American:

I want to answer the letter headed, "Wearing of the Union Jack"-by Canadians in Boston. In the first place, his letter is a slur and disgrace to the Americans who fought in the Canadian army. The button he refers to is an emblem which was presented to us with our discharge in Canada. Some of the boys who are wearing this wonderful button are good and true Americans who showed their true colors and enlisted in the Canadian army long before America's entrance into the World War, and after going through years of hardships in the trenches they are told they should not wear the button to acknowledge such wonderful service. Perhaps if the fellow who wrote the letter I refer to was entitled to a button he would feel different, but I guess he was holding down a snap job while we were over there. I wear the button and am proud of it.

Wanted: Pair of Crutches

Editor Boston American:

Is there one of your readers who has a discarded pair of crutches for a deserving young man who recently suffered the misfortune to lose a leg? He is a war veteran, but he did not lose his leg in the war. Without crutches he cannot work. His operation took all of his savings.

Union Jack Button

Editor Boston American:

A writer, signed "An Un-Hyphenated American," objects to the wearing of a button with the Union Jack. I presume that this writer does not know that it is a war service button, and I might add that my husband in the wearer of one, although we are both of good old Vermont stock and I am a direct descendant of a follower of Ethan Allen. My husband saw three years of active service, and if he were no button he would be called slacker by some of the "unhyphenated Americans."

JUSTICE BEFORE PATRIOTISM.

Let's Be Pals

Editor Boston American:

What has become of our boasted democracy and our intellectual attainment here in New England? The Voice of New England (1922) brings one away back in the Middle Ages with its racial hatreds and religious conflicts. Let us hope that this isn't the unanimous voice of New England. It is regrettable that these columns are used for the airing of racial and religious hatreds of a few bigots. The founders as well as the men who fought and died for our country were of various European extractions and creeds. Men of all races did their bit to make the United States what it is today. Why not be pals, all, even though we do not hold the same views? Let us all contribute our best for the welfare and future of our nation. We all need each other. We are of the Almighty, and we all seek the light.

Haverhill. M. BENOIT.

Blames Tenants

Editor Boston American:

In a recent issue of the Boston American certain statements were made that certain Brookline apartments were full of platoons of water bugs and overrun with rats. Upon investigation the writer finds that these pests, if there were any, existed principally before the present owner took possession. Immediately upon changing hands, the new owner started to exterminate same at great expense, and, to the best of his knowledge and belief, he has succeeded. He is confident that if there are any pests to be found in this property it is due entirely to the fault of the tenants rather than the landlord.
